SASKATCHEWAN

A Survey of the topography, climate, resources, industries, transportation and communication and institutional services of the Province of Saskatchewan.

By W. A. MacLeod, Editor of Publications, Parliament Buildings, Regina.

The Province of Saskatchewan lies in the centre of the Western Canadian Prairies, and comprises the lion's share of their choicest lands. The southerly boundary of the province is the 49th parallel of North latitude, which is also the international boundary line between Canada and the United States. The States of North Dakota and Montana are immediately adjacent to this line. The northerly boundary of the province is the 60th parallel, so that the province extends over 11 degrees of latitude, measuring 761 miles in length, and in width 390 miles at the southern boundary to 336 miles at the northern.

The area of the province is 251,700 square miles. Of this area 8,329 miles are covered by water, leaving 243,381 square miles of land. The province exceeds in extent any European country except Russia, is more than double the combined area of England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland, more than double the size of Italy, and more than twenty times that of Belgium.

Of the total land area of Saskatchewan, ninety-four million acres have been put under cultivation. While the whole of the southern part of Saskatchewan and the western part of the province form an almost unbroken tract of prairie country with nearly 100,000 square miles of open prairie, a wide area of the northern section is well wooded. In the extreme north the woods are inferior and inaccessible, but the total area of forest lands of commercial possibilities is estimated at 54,000 square miles, with an available lumber supply estimated at between eight and fourteen billion feet.

The fact that the growth of the province of Saskatchewan has been sound and healthy, along sane and progressive lines, cannot be too strongly emphasized. Whether in Eastern Canada, or in the old land, those who have not been west themselves too often have in their minds a picture of the Saskatchewan of 1905 when the province was inaugurated, rather than any definite idea of the province today after nearly sixteen years of progress and expansion in every direction. There is in their minds a picture of a bald expanse, where brawny settlers, more or less uncouth, raise large quantities of wheat under rude and barely civilized conditions. The Indian, the coyote, the wolf and the bear; lonesomeness, hard living and unremitting toil; drab lives unrelieved by any social or artistic amenities—these and things like them still make the principal conceptions in the minds of many people when they think of the great Canadian West, and ask themselves whether they are prepared to throw in their lot with it, and all that it means and represents. That this should be so is not a matter of surprise, but from a Saskatchewan point of view it is certainly a matter of regret.

Put briefly, it may be added that Saskatchewan is no longer in a formative stage. It no longer asks for consideration on the ground of youth, or inexperience, or crude conditions which require time to overcome, but whether in education, industry, production, the conveniences as well as the necessities of life and the standards of living or of happiness generally, it challenges a fair and reasonable comparison with the provinces of older date.

The formation of the province in 1905 had been preceded by a period of prosperity under which the old North West Territories had progressed sufficiently to warrant their division into two autonomous provinces; but inauguration was succeeded by a rush of prosperity and accompanying development, which has had few parallels in the history of young communities.

Saskatchewan is pre-eminently a farming province. In 1901, barely twenty years ago, the number of farms was 13,380; by 1906 this number had increased to 54,787; the census of 1916 showed 104,000 farms, while today the figures are approaching 115,000. When the province was formed there were large stretches of arable prairie unoccupied, but now from Estevan to Prince Albert, and from Moosomin to Maple Creek, the country is almost one vast farm. Saskatchewan has grown so rapidly and the development of the agricultural resources of the province has been carried out on such a big scale, that to many of its citizens as well as to the outside world, Saskatchewan is looked on as simply a huge farm, with wheat as its principal and most profitable crop.

It is quite true that no part of the world has ever been transformed in such a brief space of time from a vast tract of vacant idle land, into an enormously productive territory, each year producing hundreds of millions of bushels of grain, as well as providing feed for over a million head of horses and even more of cattle, but this phenomenal advance in agriculture has cast in the shade an important advance in industrial developments and has to a certain extent prevented a more general recognition of the increasing potential value to the province of its natural resources.

Saskatchewan imports the bulk of the coal used for domestic and industrial purposes, but there are billions of tons of lignite coal in Saskatchewan, enough to supply the entire demand of western Canada for a very long term of years, providing only that this coal can be treated so that it will not "slack" when exposed to the atmosphere. It appears as if this problem has at last been solved. The Lignite Utilization Board of Canada has constructed and will shortly have in operation, a briquetting plant of commercial size in the south-eastern coal fields of Saskatchewan, with a capacity of 30,000 tons yearly of lignite briquettes practically equal in heating value to anthracite coal. It is believed that the new process for carbonizing and briquetting lignite will relieve the fuel and power situation, not only in Saskatchewan, but for all western Canada, and the enormous deposits of lignite coal in Saskatchewan, hitherto considered of secondary importance, will be tremendously increased in value. The building up of clay working industries adjacent to the coal fields will be one of the new developments of the highest importance in the industrial life of the province. The output from the coal mines so far averages only 360,000 tons a year, but a very greatly increased output is looked for as soon as the manufacture of lignite briquettes has been demonstrated a commercially profitable undertaking.

In 1911 there were 78 factories in the province. These factories were practically confined to woodworking, printing and laundry establishments. Today there are over two hundred and twenty-five factories representing almost every form of industrial activity which can be profitably carried on in Saskatchewan.

There are vast deposits of mineral salts in Saskatchewan. A deposit of sodium sulphate in the constituency of Bengough is estimated by the engineers to produce at least six million tons, 96.36 per cent. pure, probably the highest in purity of any such deposit in the world. Sodium sulphate is used with pulpwood in the manufacture of paper and the government views the deposit from the standpoint of the industrial development of the province, not from the point of view of shipping it out of the province, but of establishing industries in Saskatchewan, and intends to make careful examination of all the uses to which this mineral is put.

The province of Saskatchewan excels both in the quantity and quality of the class of raw refractory known as fire clays, as well as other deposits from which can be manufactured practically the whole range of structural clay products. The mining of these clays is especially simple by reason of the easy access to the majority of the deposits, which are nearly all workable by the open pit method. Even the high grade refractory clays are so well exposed that underground mining will not be necessary for some time to come.

Only the experts who have been making surveys of our forests have any conception of the great forest wealth of Saskatchewan. The forest area of the province is between ninety-eight and one hundred million acres. It is estimated that at present there is available over eight billion board feet of saw timber and that there could be cut for pulpwood fifty-five million cords, and for firewood nearly one hundred million cords.

Very little is known about the mineral resources in the north-eastern portion of Saskatchewan, although a large body of valuable copper bearing quartz is now being developed in north-west Manitoba, the ore field extending into Saskatchewan. Traces of copper, gold and silver have been reported by prospectors in outcroppings on the shores of some of the larger lakes in this part of the province, and have encouraged the hope that important mineral deposits may yet be discovered and developed in northern Saskatchewan. In the prairie parts of the province a number of non-metallic minerals have been discovered, which may yet prove of great value, and include gypsum, ochre, salt, etc. It is hoped that in the next few years important progress will have been made in putting to use the wealth below the soil as well as making available the riches in the top few inches of our fertile acres.

The improvement in the conditions under which farmers now live has kept pace with the increased acreage. Less than sixteen years ago the farm telephone was unknown in Saskatchewan. Today the telephone system criss-crosses the province like a net. Broadly speaking, the system is, that the government owns the long distance lines, and the people themselves own and operate the branches. The co-operative principle applied in this way has been most successful, with the result that the lonesomeness and isolation of prairie farms are things of the past; neighbour is in touch with neighbour; the farmer is in touch with his market town and the outside world, and year in and year out at no period of the day or night is he cut off from the outside world. There are more telephones per capita in Saskatchewan than in any country in the world except Sweden.

Another great contributor to improved conditions is the automobile. The proportion of automobiles to the population is greater in Saskatchewan than in any other province in the Dominion and equal to the proportion per capita in the United States. It would be too much to say that every farmer has a gas wagon, but certainly the man who has not is the exception and not the rule; and as a time saver the value of the automobile on the farm is very great indeed.

Another matter tending to do away with the old isolation is the increase of railway mileage. The number of branches, acting as feeders to the main lines, and opening up and serving new and fertile lands, is such that most of our farmers now have a reasonably convenient access to railways instead of large number of them as formerly, living at long distance from the railway station. In addition to this, millions have been expended by the provincial government in improvement of highways, so that the marketing facilities of the province now leave little room for any fair criticism.

HISTORICAL

In order to trace the evolution of the present system of government, it is necessary to go back very many years to the time when all authority was vested in the Hudson's Bay Company. When that company surrendered its claims local government may be said to have commenced. On that date the North-West Territories were organized as a kind of Crown Colony, under the immediate supervision of the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba. This lasted from 1870 to 1876, and during this period all the legislative and executive business of the Far West was conducted by the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, acting under the advice of an appointed council which met at Fort Garry. During these early times the government was more or less a far away and unreal thing, which scarcely affected the lives of the people and of which they were barely cognizant. It is not generally known that during this period various provisional governments sprung up as it were spontaneously, one of which was organised by Gabriel Dumont at Batoche in 1875.

In 1876 the North-West Territories were given an entirely separate government from that of Manitoba, and its first Lieutenant-Governor, A. E. Forget (afterwards Lieutenant Governor of Saskatchewan) as clerk of the council; Mathew Ryan, Hugh Richardson, afterwards a judge; Jas. F. McLeod, commissioner of police. To these was presently added Pascal Breland, as representative of the French half-breed population.

Provision was made in The North-West Territories Act for the introduction of an active element in the North-West Council as soon as the population in any given locality had become sufficiently great. The Duck Lake community was the first to fulfil the condition of having a possible 1,000 voters in 1,000 square miles, and therefore, was constituted the first electoral district, under the name of Lorne. The Hon. Lawrence Clarke became its first representative.

In 1876 and 1877 the North-West Council met at Livingston (Swan River), and in 1877 the seat of government was transferred to Battleford, which remained the capital until the selection of Regina in 1883.

The Territories still had no representation in the Dominion House, and the whole system of government was the subject of wide-spread discontent. While this was by no means confined to the half-breed population, it was amongst them that it produced the most serious consequences in the insurrection of 1885. This melancholy fiasco, however, had the advantageous effect of attracting atention to the needs, conditions and possibilities of the North-West, and in 1888 the North West Council was superseded by the first Legislative Assembly.

Although in the year 1888 the Legislature had become representative rather than appointive in character, the executive was not responsible to the Assembly. The advisory council was nominated by the Lieutenant-Governor, who had the power of naming four members of the council to act. The Dominion government still supplied the major part of the funds necessary for the conduct of territorial affairs, and the federal authorities looked to the Lieutenant-Governor to be the real head of the administration and to conduct it in accordance with instructions from Ottawa. A most interesting constitutional struggle took place during the next several years, the champion of responsible institutions being Mr., now Sir, Frederick Haultain.

By the end of Royal's stormy administration in 1893, however, the North-West Legislature had secured practically all the rights and privileges of self-governing and responsible institutions. At first the Executive Council was not departmentalized, and a large part of the authority was vested in the Premier. A cabinet as understood at the present time, has only existed since 1898, when, as a result of the passage of the Territories Public Service Ordinance of 1897 the division of the government or executive council into departments was effected. Under this ordinance, provision was made for the creation of the following departments:

The Office of the Executive Council;
The Department of the Attorney General;
The Department of the Territorial Secretary;
The Department of the Treasury;
The Department of Public Works;
The Department of Agriculture;
The Department of Public Instruction;
The Offices of the Legislative Assembly.

The only changes that have taken place in these departments up to the present time, other than that the Department of Public Instruction becomes the Department of Education, are that the Department of Railways, Telegraphs and Telephones was created in 1905; the Department of Railways was made a separate department later; and the Depa ment of Municipal Affairs, the first depa ment of its kind in Canada, was created i 1908.

THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL.

The work of the Executive Council may be concisely defined as the decision of methods of administration. This function is exercised in two ways: First, in the giving of "advice" to those in higher authority, whose representative is the Lieutenant Governor, and second, in the administration of the various departments of which each member is the head.

In tendering advice to the Lieutenant-Governor, the Executive Council passes what is called a Minute of Council, or else takes no action at all. There is no minority report made, and if there should be any difference of opinion amongst the councillors upon any question of state or policy, the oath of office taken by each one prevents it becoming public. After the

HON. WM. MELVILLE MARTIN
PREMIER, PRESIDENT OF THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL, ATTORNEY-GENERAL AND MINISTER OF RAILWAYS AND CANALS

Minute of Council is "approved and ordered" by the lieutenant Governor, it becomes law for the time being. Although the Lieutenant Governor may follow advice tendered to him from any source which he may care to seek, our system of responsible government imposes upon him a practical necessity for him to accept the advice of such persons only as have command of a majority in the Legislature, so that there is, under this system which prevails in almost all the British colonies and provinces, seldom, if ever, any constitutional difficulty. The Executive Council of the Territories became similar in this respect to those of other British local governments in the year 1888, when the first Legislative Assembly was established.

The organisation of the Executive Council is carried out by the Lieutenant-Governor sending for a prominent member of the Legislature whom he considers capable of forming a government that will command a majority in the House, and asking him to form his council. On its formation this gentleman becomes Premier, but not necessarily President of the Executive Council, although as a matter of fact in most of the local governments of the British Crown he acts in the dual capacity.

As regards the second administrative function of the councillors, i.e., the administration of the different branches of the public service, to each member of the council is given the administration of one or more departments, but if there is no department allotted to a member of the council he still acts as such although "without portfolio." In territorial days, with the exception of the Attorney General, Territorial Treasurer and Secretary, they were named commissioners, but after the creation of the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan they were officially termed ministers. Their duties, powers and heavy responsibilities as such, are set out in the different ordinances or acts creating the departments over which they preside.

Agriculture

Our readers will have already gained some idea of the quite extraordinary expansion in agricultural wealth which has taken place in the province of Saskatchewan, but in order to show definitely just what that development has been it will be necessary to give some statistics, and also to trace the history of the Department of Agriculture, which is really the history of Agriculture in this province.

Saskatchewan has now for many years occupied the premier position amongst the provinces of Canada as a grain producer, and in more than one year her aggregate production of the four principal grains has exceeded that of any state in the American Union. While one or two of the States have surpassed her in production at times, the average yield per acre during the past ten years is greater than in any of the States.

As compared with the other provinces of Canada in the growing of spring wheat, in 1920, as in former years, Saskatchewan has a long lead. The whole Dominion produced 213,720,900 bushels, and Saskatchewan 113,135,300 bushels, which gives Saskatchewan 46.12 per cent. of the total yield. Alberta was next on the spring wheat list.

During the years of the war, Saskatchewan farmers were urged to sow every available acre, and "Greater Production" was the cry on every hand. This was not conducive to good farming, but the need was urgent and the response generous. The value of Saskatchewan to the cause of the Empire and her allies, as a bread producer, may be gleaned from the fact that in 1918, in which year one of the poorest crops of the whole war period was reaped, out of a total wheat production of 92,493,000 bushels, no less than 70,000,000 were exported, practically all to Great Britain, and in 1919, over a million bushels were exported.

The year 1915 was the banner year for Saskatchewan farmers. In that season, from seed time to harvest, everything seemed to conspire in the farmers' favour, with the result that the production of wheat, oats, barley and flax reached the enormous total of 378,961,480 bushels.

A few agricultural statistics for the year 1920 will be of interest:

Total value of the wheat crop	$175,359,674
Total value of oats	58,035,090
Total value of barley	6,930,986
Total value of flax	10,383,100
Total value of dairy products	10,310,616
Total value of all live stock	241,050,755
Total value of farm products	525,736,771

In a province which is pre-eminently agricultural like the province of Saskatchewan, where almost 70 per cent. of the population is rural, the provincial Department of Agriculture has to shoulder heavy responsibilities. Fortunately for the department and the province, this heavy load has been lightened in Saskatchewan by the spirit of co-operation which has been for many years past the guiding principle of the department.

The principle of co-operation has entered very largely into the life of the province, and has manifested itself in the building up of great industries like the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company, Ltd., the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries, Limited, and the newly organized and rapidly growing co-operative live stock marketing industry, assisted by the Northern and Southern Saskatchewan Co-operative Live Stock Yards.

SASKATCHEWAN CO-OPERATIVE ELEVATOR CO.

When the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company was first formed, under legislation passed in the year 1911, there were many who had grave doubts as to its ultimate success. But these fears have long since proved to be groundless, and the company today stands unique in two respects, first, that it furnished undoubtedly the most efficient system of marketing yet devised, and second, that it is by far the largest initial grain handling concern in the whole world.

The growth of the company and the increase in the extent of its operations has been little short of phenomenal. Commencing its first year with 46 elevators and less than 3,000 shareholders, it now has 322 elevators dotted all over the province, besides terminal elevators with total capacity of 5,300,000 bushels, and there are 21,000 shareholders. Up to a date in the last week of February of this year, it has handled since it commenced business the enormous amount of 209,116,891 bushels of grain.

The financial strength of the company is all that could be desired. In every case it has met at maturity all its obligations to the government, which financed it, has paid satisfactory dividends to its shareholders, and in addition has saved for the farmers of the province when marketing their grain untold sums of money.

SASKATCHEWAN CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERIES

Under the fostering legislation of the government, there has been a most remarkable development of the dairying industry in this province. Fourteen years ago, when the government of Saskatchewan took over from the Dominion government the care of the infant dairying industry, there were just four creameries struggling not very successfully for existence and the total number of patrons was only 213. Now there are close to 13,000 patrons and there are twenty-seven co-operative creameries, united under the legislation of 1917 into one strong company under central management, which occupies in relation to the dairymen much the same posititon as the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Company does towards the grain growers. During the last three years this company has manufactured an average of over three million pounds of butter each year, and during the five war years the production of butter increased slightly over 85 per cent., which is a most remarkable record in view of the fact that several of the seasons were the reverse of favourable to the industry.

There are six co-operative cold storage plants owned and operated by the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries Company, and two more are being built. The capacity in cubic feet of refrigerator space in the six cold storage pl ts in operation reaches the high total f 301,588 cubic feet.

The success of the company is such that patrons and shareholders are well satisfied, and it has been claimed that this is one of the best organized and established agricultural industries in Canada, which is every day furnishing proof of the entire suitability of Saskatchewan climate and conditions for the pursuit of diversified farming.

THE CO-OPERATIVE POLICY

The co-operative policy of the Department of Agriculture is based upon the principle that the farmers of the province are capable of handling their own business, only requiring asistance and guidance when undertaking a new line of work, and the practical working out of this policy is shown in the development of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers' Association as well as the Saskatchewan Co-operative Creameries. The co-operative marketing of wool was carried on from 1914 to 1920 by the Co-operative Branch of the Department of Agriculture, until the work had grown so that the department decided that the time had arrived when this work could be done by the farmers themselves.

In 1911 when the co-operative Branch first undertook the co-operative marketing of wool, there were 179 consignments received, with a total weight of 69,404 lbs. In 1915 there were 318 consignments with a total weight of 150,328 pounds, in 1916 487 weighing 179,890 pounds; in 1917, 623 weighing 223,115 pounds; in 1918, 916 totalling 394,068 pounds; in 1919 1,103 weighing 553,491 pounds, and in 1920, 1356 weighing 678,519 pounds and also 6000 pounds of pelts.

LIVE STOCK.

In diversified farming lies the future prosperity of Saskatchewan agriculture, and the Live Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture has assisted in a movement for the general improvement of all classes of live stock in the province with a success that is truly amazing. At the International Live Stock Show at Chicago in the fall of 1920, the leading live stock exhibition on the continent, the exhibit from the province of Saskatchewan won thirty-two championships and prizes. This included the grand champion Clydesdale stallion, Wee Donald, owned by C. A. Weaver, of Lloydminster; reserve grand champion Clydesdale mare, Lady Bruce of Lumsden, owned by the University of Saskatchewan; the same mare was also awarded the reserve senior championship and second prize for aged Clydesdale mares. The champion grade Shorthorn steer of the show, the second prize aged Percheron stallion, the first prize Belgian foal, were also among the long list of winnings by Saskatchewan live stock, which swept the board with Clydesdales and made a remarkably good showing in every class in which this province exhibited.

The favorable effect of the operations of the Stallion Licensing Board in improving the quality of Saskatchewan horses, is very evident. This board has for several years directed its efforts towards the elimination of the scrub stallion, with the result that in 1919 Saskatchewan took the first place among the provinces of Canada for the number of stallions enrolled as well as first in the number of horses. This shows that Saskatchewan has become the centre of the draft horse industry. Prospects for the horse industry are excellent, as the demand is likely to exceed the supply for many years to come.

SUPPLYING LIVE STOCK TO FARMERS.

Under the Live Stock Purchase and Sale Act, the government buys grade cattle, sheep and hogs, for cash and sells them on credit terms to farmers. Pure bred sires of the various breeds are supplied in the same way. Expert buyers are sent to Eastern Canada to purchase high class dairy cows and heifers for resale on easy terms to dairy farmers. In 1919, when feed was scarce over a large area, the farmers in the districts affected were forced to sacrifice some of their live stock, the Live Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture purchased young cows and heifers for cash in carloads and resold the stock thus purchased, on credit terms, to farmers in other parts of the province where there was plenty of feed.

THE DAIRYING BRANCH

The Dairy Branch of the Department is endeavoring to promote in every way possible the dairying industry of Saskatchewan, by a general improvement in the quality of the product as well as an increase in the quantity produced, with exceedingly encouraging results. In 1920, despite the fact that there was a decrease in the number of cows in the province due to the great shortage of feed in the previous year, there was an increase of 41,000 pounds in the creamery output over 1919. It is a comparatively brief period since the province was importing butter by the carload, but the tide has turned, and for the past few years it has been exporting by the train load government graded creamery butter which commands a high price on both eastern and western markets. The total creamery output for the province was over 6,600,000 pounds and the total value of dairy products for 1920 was given at 23,686,550, an increase of $500,000 over the previous year.

FIELD CROPS BRANCH.

The Field Crops Branch, in addition to encouraging the best methods of tillage and cropping methods to control noxious weeds, and superintending campaigns to control outbreaks of insects injurious to the crops, devotes much attention to the improvement of the seed grain sown in the province, and as part of this work prepares exhibits of Saskatchewan's agricultural products for international exhibits. Saskatchewan farmers have well upheld the reputation of the province as the leading wheat growing province of Canada and the centre of the world's best wheat growing district. Eight times in the past nine years Saskatchewan farmers have won the world's sweepstakes for the best wheat, as well as many first prizes and championships for other cereals, vegetables and grasses.

In 1916, Saskatchewan farmers won at International Exhibitions 44 prizes and 33 sweepstakes; 31 prizes and 2 sweepstakes in 1917; 12 prizes and 1 sweepstake in 1918; 48 prizes and 3 sweepstakes in 1919 and 12 prizes and 1 sweepstake in 1920, when only one International Soil and Products Exhibition was held.

CO-OPERATION AND MARKETS BRANCH

The Co-operation and Markets Branch, assists in the organization of co-operative associations, devoting special attention to co-operative live stock marketing; assists the various Agricultural Associations of the province in planning and conducting co-operative horse sales; assists in the campaign to raise the standard of eggs marketed in the province and in the co-operative sale of poultry; and works in the closest co-operation with the various co-operative associations in all their activities.

THE STATISTICS BRANCH.

The Statistics Branch reports crop conditions, institutes inquiries regarding farming practices with a view to securing authoritative data; compiles general statistics, and conducts a mailing bureau for the distribution of agricultural publications prepared by the Department and the College of Agriculture.

THE GAME BRANCH.

The Chief Game Guardian seeks to preserve the wild life of the province, with the help of local game guardians. The importance of preserving our wild birds is featured in the educational work carried on, moving pictures and slides proving specially effective in interesting school children; and good sportsmen in all parts of the province are giving enthusiastic support to the reasonable game laws of the province.

OTHER DEPARTMENTAL ACTIVITIES.

In addition to the work briefly outlined, the Department of Agriculture organizes and pays grants to Agricultural Societies; pays scholarships to Domestic Science students attending Eastern institutions; co-operates with the University of Saskatchewan and railway companies in operating Better Farming Trains, Agricultural Instruction and Dairy Cars, instructs non-English speaking settlers in farming practices through their own press, and watches over and seeks to further the interests of Saskatchewan farmers through ever changing conditions from year to year.

Education

The people of Saskatchewan may well be proud of what has been accomplished along educational lines since the establishment of the province on September 10, 1905. Beginning with only 891 school districts, dotted here and there over the province, with no secondary schools, only one normal school, without a university; the province has now about 4,500 school districts, 21 high schools and collegiate institutes, with upwards of 200 elementary schools doing high school work, two normal schools, and a provincial university with an enrolment this year of over 1,100 students.

The progress made has been due not only to the policy and efforts of the Department of Education, with the assistance of the councils of the rural municipalities, but to the hearty co-operation of the people in the various sections of the province, and their desire to give their children the advantages of a good education.

In discussing the education system of the province and dealing with its problems, it must be borne in mind that Saskatchewan is more truly rural than any province in the Dominion, or any state in the American Union. Of the 1,400 school districts in the province on December 31, 1920, all but 78 were rural or village districts. The schools in the larger towns and cities are as well administered and the teachers are as well qualified and as efficient as they are in any part of Canada. In rural districts and in many of the village districts where the population is sparce, distances great, the roads not always good and boarding accommodation limited, the attendance is apt to be irregular, frequent changes of teachers occur, schools are not in operation throughout the year, so that there is still much hard work to be done by the Department, the school trustees and the people of the province before all the schools measure up to the standard which it is hoped they will ultimately reach.

It has been the object to see that every child in the province secures at least a good common school education and that those who wish it are enabled to pursue a high school course. To this end every effort has been made to place a school within reasonable distance from every child, boards of trustees are encouraged to operate yearly schools with qualified teachers in charge, regular attendance is required on the part of children of school age, and the teaching of high school work in urban centres where high schools have not been established is encouraged by liberal grants.

Out of the 891 school districts in Saskatchewan when the province was established, 885 were public school districts and 9 were separate school districts, 2 of which were Protestant school districts. On December 31, 1920, out of 4,390 school districts and 21 separate school districts, 4 of which were Protestant separate school districts. Saskatchewan has established almost as many school districts as Alberta and Manitoba combined.

The enrolment in all the schools of the province in 1905 was 25,191, and of these 620 were doing high school work. In 1920 the total enrolment had grown to 161,219 with 9,000, and in 1920, 11,163 enrolled in the high school grades.

While the increase in the enrolment in the schools of the province has been most gratifying, reports from teachers and inspectors revealed the fact that the attendance of pupils had for many years been very irregular. Investigation proved that the compulsory clauses of The School Act which had been on the statute books for many years and which placed upon the boards of trustees the duty of compelling regular attendance of pupils, were in too many cases a dead letter, and thousands of boys and girls had left school without a good common school education.

In 1917 the School Attendance Act was passed by the Legislature. Under this Act, all children over seven and under fourteen years of age are required to attend the school of the district in which they reside for the whole period during which the school is in operation each year. At the time the Act was passed—the third year of the war—there was a very serious shortage of labor and a clause was inserted giving boards of trustees the power to exempt from attendance at school any child over thirteen years of ago whose services were required in husbandry or for urgent and necessary household duties. Under an amendment to this clause which was passed at the close of the war, boards of trustees were empowered to exempt a pupil from school only if the pupil was at least thirteen years of age and had passed grade V of the public school course of study, and for a period not exceeding thirty teaching days in any year.

The enrolment of pupils in the elementary schools of the province grew from 125,590 in 1916, to 138,731 in 1917, 147,232 in 1918, 159,168 in 1919, and 169,008 in 1920.

The School Attendance Act has been administered with due regard to conditions existing in the province and with as little hardship as possible. The total number of cases sent to the provincial attendance officers since the act came into force up to the end of 1920 amounted to 9,142, and fines were imposed for a total of 5,791 cases.

A recent amendment to The Schol Act provides that in every school district where at least 10 children between the ages of seven and fourteen reside within the district, the school must be in operation at least 200 teaching days. Given a compulsory attendance law strictly administered, and yearly schools with qualified teachers in charge, a tremendous improvement in the school system of the province can be brought about.

SUPPLY OF TEACHERS.

To obtain each year an adequate supply of qualified teachers is perhaps the most serious problem that confronts the department. During the past sixteen years licenses have been granted to over 16,000 teachers, about half of them trained in normal schools in Saskatchewan. This number would have been quite adequate to supply the demand, but the records show that the department was compelled to issue an average of over 700 provisional certificates or "permits" each year for periods varying from two to eight months, to keep the schools in operation. The causes of this shortage are principally the great demand for help in other lins of work and the fact that many of the women teachers marry.

This shortage of teachers, unfortunately, bears most heavily on the rural school districts, where living conditions often do not compare favourably with those in the urban centres and where employment is not so steady all the year round, although the salary is often higher than that paid

In towns. The legislation to provide for yearly schools and compulsory attendance which is now in effect will have a far-reaching effect upon the elementary schools and should stop to some extent the exodus from the teaching ranks.

The decline in the number of teachers coming to Saskatchewan from other provinces has given the Department another problem which is being successfully solved. In 1906, 66 per cent. of the new teachers granted regular licenses came from other provinces. In 1919 this percentage was reduced to 34, which means that the Saskatchewan normal schools produced the other 66 per cent. It is apparent that the province must depend more and more upon its own training schools for its supply of teachers. Through the courtesy of the Public School Board of the city of Saskatoon the normal classes at that point were for several years accommodated in one of the public schools. The new normal school at present in course of erection in the City of Saskatoon will provide adequate accommodation for the teachers in training in the northern part of the province.

Under the new regulations all persons applying for admission to the normal school must hold at least Second Class academic standing and the normal school course has been extended to cover a period of 33 weeks. This provision will ensure a better qualified class of teachers for the schools of the province.

TEACHERS' EXCHANGE.

In order to enable boards of trustees to get into communication with qualified teachers, a Teachers' Exchange employment bureau was established as a branch of the Department of Education in 1917. Up to that time teachers leaving the normal schools or coming into Saskatchewan from other provinces were under the necessity of engaging the services of private agencies in order to obtain schools and had to pay a commission for such service. The Teachers' Exchange gives its services free of charge to teachers and boards of trustees and has proved a real service.

HOUSEHOLD SCIENCE.

Several years ago, with a view of relating the work in the schools of the province more closely to the actual needs of the community, the subject of household science and cooking is now encouraged in both elementary and secondary schools. The provincial Director of Household Science is now assisted in the field by six assistants, and a household science teacher is employed on the staff of the normal schools at Regina and Saskatoon. The Household Science branch of the Department of Education is encouraging the boards of trustees to provide a hot noon lunch for children who are compelled to remain at school during the noon period. In addition to this, short courses in household science are held at centres of the province and instruction given in cooking, canning of fruits and vegetables, and in sewing to the senior pupils of the school, while afternoon and evening classes are held for older girls and mothers.

SCHOOL GRANTS.

At the 1920-21 session of the legislature a new School Grants Act was passed which marks a decided advance in the measure of provincial financial support for elementary education. The Supplementary Revenue Tax which has provided rural and secondary schools with a considerable revenue since 1907 was abolished, and the grants to rural schools under the new Grants Act was increased to beyond the maximum amount paid in the previous year under The School Grants Act and The Supplementary Revenue Act combined. Village and town schools having less than six departments will draw a grant under the new law double that paid under the old law, while the grant payable for a department devoted exclusively to pupils above Grade VII has been increased from $1.50 to $3.00 per day.

The grants now paid in support of elementary education by the Department of Education for Saskatchewan are far more substantial and generous than those paid in any other province of the Dominion, and testify to the importance placed upon this public service by the Government. Saskatchewan has, through its Legislative Assembly given evidence of its approval of the paramount importance of the education of the children of the province in the most practical way, by adequate financial support from Provincial funds.

GRANTS TO SECONDARY SCHOOLS

The substantial financial support provided by the Government for the high schools and collegiate institutes of Saskatchewan is also without parallel in Canada. With the repeal of The Supplementary Revenue Act, which provides that 10 per cent. of the funds collected under this Act should be assigned to secondary schools, it became necessary to increase the grant per diem per teacher and this has been placed at $1.00. At this rate a high school room will be able to earn in 1921 more than the maximum amount from all sources earned in previous years. In addition, in order to reimburse partly from provincial funds high school districts that provide for the education of non resident pupils, a new grant has been added of 15 cents per diem per each non-resident pupil in actual attendance. The maximum grant under this clause is $30 per annum per pupil.

SCHOOL FINANCES

A most important advance has been made since the establishment of the province in the manner of raising funds for the operation of schools in rural and village districts. In the early days, all taxes were levied and collected by the various school boards. Since the establishment of the rural municipalities all school taxes are levied by the municipal councils upon requisition from the school boards and in village and rural districts are payable to the school boards at the end of each quarter.

In 1906 the various school districts of the province expended $1,448,914.69. In 1919 the amount expended was $11,433,-258.46. For teachers salaries in 1906 the amount expended was $471,745.65, while in 1917 the amount expended for salaries was $4,813,000.42. This amount is almost a million dollars more than was paid in 1918 for teachers' salaries. Average salaries for all classes of teachers have almost doubled since 1906. The average salaries in 1906 ranged from $592.10 for third class female teachers, to $777.21 for first class male teachers, and in 1919 from $1,019.82 for third class female teachers to $1,456.11 for first class male teachers.

INSPECTION OF SCHOOLS

In 1905 five inspectors were employed in that part of the North West Territories that now comprises the province of Saskatchewan. As the number of school districts increased, more and more inspectors were necessary, until now 16 inspectors, including an inspector of secondary schools are employed by the department. Their work is most ardaous at all times. They are the department's representatives in their respective fields and are expected not only to inspect the schools in thsir divisions, but to keep in touch with conditions in their districts and advise boards of trustees respecting various matters in connection with their schools. In the winter months they are called upon to assist in Normal School work. No province in Canada can boast of a more faithful or more loyal staff than Saskatchewan.

SEPARATE SCHOOLS

The Saskatchewan Act, passed by the Dominion Parliament in 1905 to create the province of Saskatchewan, provides for the organization of separate schools by the minority in any school district either Catholic or Protestant. This provision in our constitution is a continuation of the privileges which were in force in the earliest territorial days, and can now only be taken away by the British Parliament. either the provincial government nor the Dominion Government has any power to alter our constitution in so far as this privilege is concerned. There are 21 separate school districts in the province, 4 Protestant and 17 Catholic ,as compared with 9 in 1906, of which 2 were Protestant and 7 Catholic.

NIGHT SCHOOLS.

In an effort to overcome the illiteracy that prevails in many settlements, and to encourage the ambitious students of all ages that have lacked educational advantages, night schools have been encouraged. In the winter of 1918-1919 there were but six night schools with a total enrolment of 150, in the province. The government set aside a grant of one dollar per evening session, and in the winter of 1919-20 there were 38 night schools in operation with an enrolment of 666. The grant was then raised to $2.00 per evening session — the highest paid for similar work in any Canadian province—and upwards of 100 night schools, with 1,500 to 2,000 pupils enrolled, were in operation the winter of 1920-21.

TEACHERS' RESIDENCES

Rural trustees have been quick to see that a comfortable teachers' residence, furnished at the expense of the district, goes a long way towards solving the teacher problem. During the year of 1920 about 100 teachers' houses were built or remodelled. A grant of one-third of the cost of the teachers' house, up to $400, is paid by the government to districts requiring assistance.

FREE SCHOOL READERS

The provincial government, through the Department of Education, provides school readers free to the schools of the province. Under the regulations governing the distribution of these readers, every child in the elementary school receives a reader corresponding to his grade, and this reader becomes the property of the pupil. New readers corresponding to his or her grades are received as the pupils are promoted from year to year.

THE SCHOOLS AND THE WAR

It is a matter of pride that at the outbreak of the war practically every physically fit male teacher joined the colours. In addition, hundreds of students from the secondary schools and the university enlisted for active service. The school children of the province, under the guidance of their teachers, raised the splendid sum of $141,214.51 for patriotic purposes during the war. These contributions were grouped as follows: Canadian Children's Patriotic Fund, $27,138.73; Belgian Children's Relief Fund, $67,434.28; Schools Red Cross Society, $19,641.50.

SCHOOL HYGIENE

Saskatchewan has been well to the front in the recent awakening to the importance of the conservation of the health of her children. The progress of thousands of boys and girls in school is retarded because of minor physical defects which can be easily removed. With this in view, the department appointed a Director of School Hygiene in 1917, and each year since then has added qualified school nurses to the staff, until now eleven nurses are employed in the field. They visit the rural schools, look after the sanitary arrangements of the schools, inspect the children and report to the parents any physical defects they find, with the suggestion that the family physician or the dentist be consulted with a view to having these defects removed. In thousands of cases medical or dental treatment has followed the inspection of the pupils by the school nurse.

CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS

There are now in the province thirty-eight large or consolidated school districts. There are thousands of boys or girls living in far corners of school districts who cannot attend school regularly on account of the distance. If the conveyance of children to school under the consolidated plan will overcome this difficulty, then there would be almost local conditions in our schools. Every child in the district could reach the school, regular attendance would be ensured, the circle of acquaintance of the pupils greatly enlarged with consequent improvement of the community life. A better grading of pupils can be arranged and better and more permanent teachers obtained. The only serious object to this kind of school organization is the expense of the operation. In populous districts where reasonably good roads exist, this form of co-operative effort will doubtless become more popular as time goes on.

CHANGES IN THE HIGH SCHOOL COURSE OF STUDY

During the past few years very important changes have been made in the high school curriculum. Household science has been placed on the course and girls may select this instead of one of the other science options. Hygiene has been added to the course and students who are qualified for admission to the normal schools are given a complete course and are required to pass an examination in this subject.

VOCATIONAL COURSES

Under an arrangement with the Dominion Government, vocational courses in commercial work, home economic, industrial work and agriculture have been added to the high school courses. This will enable boys and girls to take a course apart from the teachers' or the matriculation course.

PLANS OF SCHOOL HOUSES

Many school buildings, particularly those in the rural districts, erected during the early history of the province, are entirely unsatisfactory, being poorly lighted, poorly equipped and badly heated and ventilated. For the past five years the Department of Education, with the co-operation of the Department of Public Works, through the Provincial Architect, has been preparing plans and specifications for school buildings in rural and village districts. These are provided free to the school boards and boards of trustees are encouraged to consult the provincial architect before embarking upon any building operations.

SECONDARY EDUCATION

Under The Secondary Education Act, which was passed in 1907, twenty-four high school districts have been established. In 1919 the total enrolment in these schools was 4,751, and the number of teachers employed 161. In the towns and villages of the province where high schools have not been established the number of pupils in the high school grades is greatly increased. The report for 1919 indicates that there are almost as many pupils enrolled in the senior departments of the elementary schools in the towns and villages of the Province, as there are in the high schools and collegiate institutes. The enrolment for that year is as follows: First and second year High Schools, 3,005; Elementary schools, 3,329; third year high schools, 1,207, elementary 810; fourth year, High schools 539, elementary schools 110; making a total of 4,751 for the high schools and 4,249 for the elementary schools.

The establishment of high schools in centres where secondary schools have not been formed has given the people of the province the means of giving their children a high school education without being compelled to send them away to large centres.

For the encouragement of high school work in urban centres, a special grant of $3.00 per day is paid for every department devoted exclusively to pupils above grade VII. The regular grant of $1.50 per day is paid as well, so that any district establishing such a department will receive for the entire year of 210 teaching days, the sum of $4.50 per day, or a total grans of $945 for such department per year. This special grant is payable only in districts where high schools or collegiate institutes are not in operation and only if the average attendance of at least fifteen pupils is maintained, and the equipment provided, the classification of pupils and the instruction given are satisfactory to the department. School boards in such districts are empowered to impose a fee of $15 a year for each resident, and $30 a year for each non-resident pupil in attendance at that class. In a class of twenty pupils, ten of whom are non-residents, the amount of grant payable would be $945. The fees collectable would be $150 for the resident and $300 for the non-resident pupils, making a total of $1,395 for such department. A great increase in the number of pupils taking high school work in the urban centres of the province may be expected.

VOTES FOR WOMEN.

Another important change in The School Act passed at the 1917 session of the Legislature gives the wives of the ratepayers, whether resident or non-resident, the same voting privileges as their husbands in school matters, so that women now have the privilege of serving on the boards of trustees. This cannot but have a good effect. The women of this country have always been active in all kinds of good work and the department is quite sure that in this field their influence will be felt. Out of 6,386 teachers employed in 1919, 5,117 were women.

The University

If a resident of Saskatchewan should be asked to point to the Provincial Institution of which he is most proud, it is altogether likely that he will point to the University of Saskatchewan. Beginning in the year 1909-10, with a modest enrolment of 70 students, the institution has now grown until in the year 1919-20 there were 1,117 students, and in addition to this the influence, the teaching and the results achieved by the University and the College of Agriculture, are conveyed by means of special short courses, travelling lectures and extension work to over 150,000 of our people in each year, and in all parts of the province.

The University conducts courses and grants degrees in Arts, Engineering, Law, Pharmacy, Agriculture and Accounting, and also conducts the examinations required by the professional societies: Accounting, Architectural, Dental, Medical, Pharmaceutical, Veterinary, Registered Nurses and Drugless Practitioners.

In every year but one since the University was founded the number of students shows a steady progression, and such progress is indeed wonderful, when it is remembered that for a period comprising almost half of the life of the institution the country was plunged into the greatest war in history. The effect of war upon all institutions of learning is simply disastrous and its effect upon the University of Saskatchewan may be illustrated by a report of the president, in which he pointed out that in 1918 there were only three graduates in engineering on account of the fact that the professors and students had enlisted. During the war about 370 students enlisted, of whom 66 lost their lives, and 35 were decorated or mentioned in despatches.

Saskatchewan Temperance Act.

The record of the Saskatchewan Government on temperance reform has been clear and consistent. Step by step the wish of the majority of the people of the province as expressed at the polls, that the sale of liquor as a beverage should be curtailed or discontinued, has been carried out by the government of the province. As the need has arisen, changes have been made in temperance legislation, and the present Saskatchewan Temperance Act has been framed to carry out as far as it is humanly possible, the desire of the majority of the men and women of the province that liquor should not hereafter be sold in the province except for medicinal, scientific, manufacturing and sacramental purposes.

From 1892 until 1908, Saskatchewan had a system of wide open bars to which everyone had access in cities, towns, villages and what were called rural localities, from early morning until 11.30 at night. Local option according to municipalities, was introduced in 1908 and at the same time the hours of the opening and closing of the bars were shortened, the number of licensed places were reduced and various restrictive measures were passed. This system continued until 1915 when the Honourable Walter Scott, then Premier of the province, announced that the time had arrived when the bars and the wholesale liquor houses had to go. The Legislature was convened and the Act passed by virtue of which, on June 30, 1915, every bar as well as every wholesale liquor house in the province was closed. Under The Sales of Liquor Act a system of government stores was introduced and provision made for plebiscite whereby the people could vote on the question of continuing or closing the government stores. By an overwhelming majority of four to one in December, 1916, the people expressed themselves in favour of stopping the sale of liquor as a beverage in Saskatchewan.

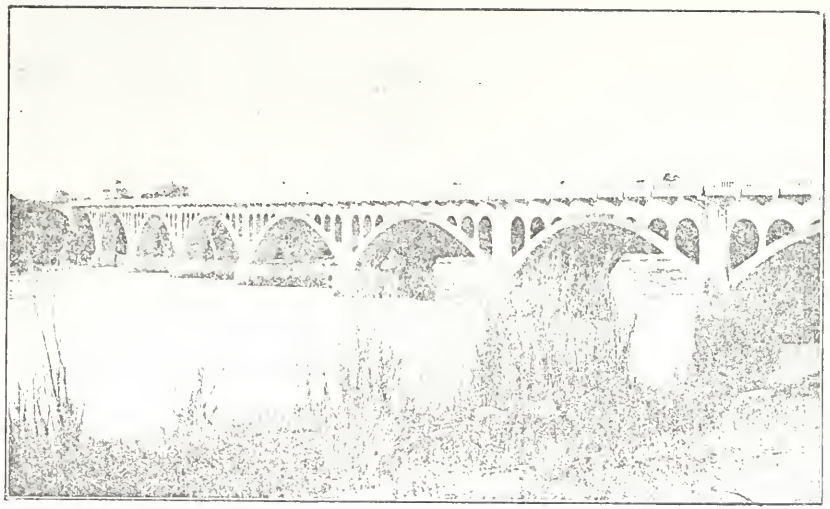
other provinces or from outside Canada liquor for beverage purposes. A resolution was passed unanimously by the Saskatchewan Legislative Assembly at the 1919-20 session, requesting that the votes of the electors of the province be taken for or against the importation of intoxicating liquor into Saskatchewan. The government of Canada issued a proclamation appointing October 25, as the day on which the poll for taking the votes of the electors for and against the prohibition of liquor should be taken. The majority was in favour of prohibition and the Dominion government passed the order in council which came into force on February 1, 1921.

On December 15, 1920, after a great deal of mature and earnest consideration, The



UNIVERSITY BRIDGE OVER SASKATCHEWAN RIVER AT SASKATOON

From January 1, 1917, to April 1, 1918, the sale of liquor in Saskatchewan was prohibited except for medicinal, scientific, manufacturing, and sacramental purpose, but during the period the province could not prevent the importation of liquor for beverage purposes into the province from outside. While local prohibition prevailed within Saskatchewan, liquor could nevertheless, be obtained as a beverage with practically no restriction, on account of the importation being permitted under federal authority from outside of the province. By an order in council under the provisions of The War Measures Act, the Dominion government for a time prohibited the importation of liquor into one province from January 1, 1920, until February 1, 1921, it was again possible for individuals to import into the province from Saskatchewan Temperance Act, (Chapter 23 of 1917) was repealed and was superseded by The Saskatchewan Temperance Act, Chapter 191 of the Revised Statutes of Saskatchewan, 1920. The policy of the Government in passing the existing law was to disassociate itself from the administration of the Act, which was placed in the hands of a commission, composed of three members: R. E. A. Leech, chairman; A. G. Hawkes and W. J. Bell. The head office of the commission is in Regina, where the chairman and Mr. Hawkes, with Mr. J. W. Stewart, as secretary, are located. The branch office for Northern Saskatchewan is in Saskatoon, and is operated under the immediate direction of Mr. W. J. Bell.

In the administration of the Act, one of the first duties of the commission is to issue to physicians and druggists, after careful investigation, permits authorizing them to sell certain liquors for medicinal purposes. The commission as a whole decides upon the cancellations and suspensions of permits, upon action with reference to physicians who have issued prescriptions for liquor in such numbers as to be clearly in excess of reasonable requirements and upon the question as to whether liquor which has been seized shall be returned or forfeited. T. D. Brown, K.C., is the legal advisor of the commission and director of prosecutions.

In order to secure satisfactory control over the sale of liquor by permit holders, the commission maintains a staff of inspectors, and so far as possible, every drug store, whether operated by a permit holder or not, is inspected at least every two months and a report of each inspection is submitted to the chairman as chief inspector. From December 15, up to February 15, as a result of these inspections, six permits have been cancelled and two physicians have been notified that they must not write prescriptions for liquor. It may be noted with satisfaction that throughout the province that the number of prescriptions for liquor, written and filled, shows a steady and marked decrease from the figures prior to the coming into force of the new Act, and the commission gratefully acknowledges its appreciation of the assistance which it has received from medical men and from druggists generally in the enforcement of the Act.

All liquors required for the use in practice of their professions by physicians, must be purchased from one or other of two licensed provincial wholesalers. The members of these professions are supplied with order books from which orders for all liquors required are forwarded in duplicate to the commission. Each order must first receive the approval of a commissioner and is then sent forward to the wholesaler to be designated, while if the order is not approved, the applicant is at once notified by mail. All liquors purchased by druggists and others are entered on a stock sheet kept for each individual in one or other of the commission's offices, and when the monthly returns of sales are received, the totals from these are at once ascertained and entered and a calculation made as to the balance which should be on hand, and the inspectors are thus able to check the actual stock of liquors in a drug store against this stock sheet and so leakages due to any cause whatever become evident at once.

In addition to control over the sale of liquors to doctors, dentists and druggists, the commission also controls sale to the governing boards of hospitals for medicinal purposes, to the authorities of educational institutions for scientific and other purposes, and to manufacturers and others for use in the mechanical arts and for manufacturing and preserving. Religious bodies also obtain wine for sacramental purposes through the commission.

While the federal laws permit the export of liquor which was in the province prior to February 1921, which can be shipped to the United States or to a province which still allows importation for beverage purposes, The Saskatchewan Temperance Act gives the commission definite duties in connection with the checking of the stock of liquor export houses, and the daily return of sales. Since December 15, 1920, every one of the fifty-four export houses in the province has been visited at least twice, and the stock of the fourteen which are closed has been checked out by an officer. The liquor houses which are doing legitimate business comply readily with the requirements of the Act and offer no objection to the close check which the commission maintains. The constant visits paid by the enforcement officers to those establishments which have reason to object to their presence have restricted illegal sales and have done much to lessen the menace arising from the presence of these houses in certain localities.

From December 15, 1920, to February 15, 1921, seventy-seven convictions have been recorded for offences against the Act, the total fines imposed exceeding $14,000. Fifty-eight separate seizures of liquor have been made and the total value of the liquor now to be declared forfeited to the Crown is approximately $100,000. The majority of the convictions and seizures have resulted from the activity of the Provincial Police, who are working in close touch with the officers employed by the commission. Many complaints are received as to conditions existing in various parts of the province and an investigating officer is always sent out as soon as possible to get in touch with the persons concerned and to report as to what action, if any, should be taken. Absolutely no attention is paid to anonymous communications.

A real beginning has been made in the enforcement of The Saskatchewan Temperance Act. In speaking to the Legislative Assembly when this new Act was given its second reading, Hon. W. F. A. Turgeon, then Attorney-General for Saskatchewan, explained that in the light of experience it was desirable to set up new machinery. In so far as the administration of the previous Act was concerned every honest effort had been made by those charged with enforcement. He would not say that with the setting of this new machinery all violations of the law would disappear and Utopia would be attained, but he honestly thought and believed that the setting up of this new machinery would go a long way towards improving conditions, providing only that the people of the province would recognize their responsibility and give their moral support in enforcing a measure which would not prove popular to a considerable part of the people of the province. The commission, although it enjoys the full support of the Saskatchewan provincial government, is an independent body and as such is able to deal with the situation with only one end in view, the enforcement of a law which is the expression of the majority of the people of the province.

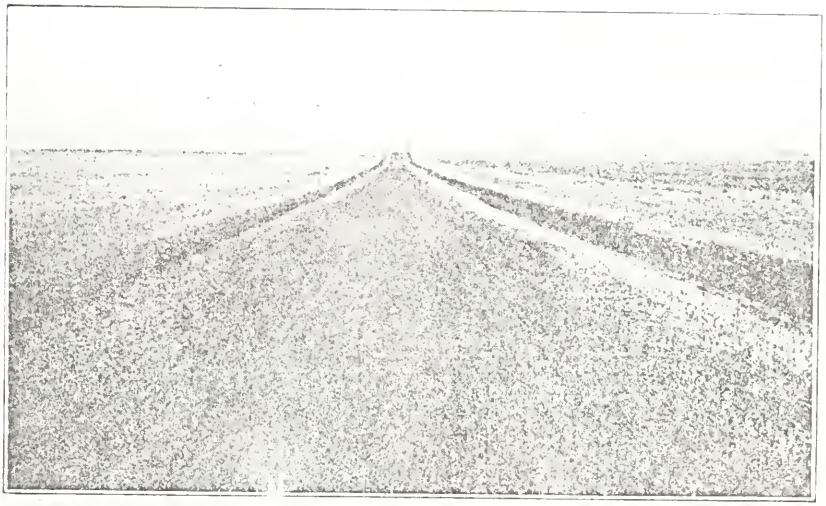
Highways

In a new province like Saskatchewan, the construction and maintenance of roads and bridges is one of the most difficult as well as one of the most important problems the government and the people have to face. Saskatchewan is solving the problem successfully because in this department as in every other the co-operation of those most vitally interested has been secured. Shortly after Premier Martin's first government was formed, the provincial government, after giving very serious consideration to the whole highways situation, decided to form a separate Highway Department in charge of a minister, to plan out a highway system for the entire province and to undertake a general improvement of the roads of Saskatchewan along a well-defined policy. From the very first it was recognized that without the co-operation of the municipal authorities of the province, no system that could be devised would meet the needs of the people, and from the very first the municipal authorities have given their hearty support to the general plan worked out by the Department of Highways. With 210,000 miles of roadway in Saskatchewan, and a system of roads already laid out which includes over 32,000 miles, it can hardly be said that much more than a beginning has been made, but a sound highways policy has been inaugurated, with a system so marked out and classified that main market roads are being located so as to link up to form interurban roads from town to town, and when finally completed a transprovincial system embracing the whole province, will give Saskatchewan a splendid highway service for all the people.

The province has been divided into districts with a competent man over each district, and a superintendent of the whole to co-relate all the road work in the entire province. The department works with the local municipalities, sends trained experts to assist in the location and construction of highways, gives assistance in the way of finance as well as advice, helps municipalities to build the roads under the direction of the department and where this cannot be done to advantage, the work is done by gangs operating under the direction of the department or by contract.



SASKATCHEWAN DIRT ROAD, WHICH WON ONE OF THE PRIZES IN ROAD DRAGGING CONTEST ANNUALLY ARRANGED BY DEPARTMENT OF HIGHWAYS.

For the maintenance of the roads, under the Highways Act, a grant of $500 is given for rural municipalities of nine townships, and this sum is expended by the municipalities on roads which are part of the main highway system of the province. In the fourteen years, from 1906 to 1920 inclusive, over $17,000,000 has been expended upon the highways of the province. The late minister of the department, Hon. S. J. Latta, in speaking before the House on the highways policy of the government, made the statement that since he took charge in 1917, "to his knowledge there had not been one solitary dollar placed in one solitary location in Saskatchewan for any other purpose than for the purpose of carrying out the system designed for improving the highways of Saskatchewan and carrying out the work as efficiently and economically as possible, and not one dollar had been placed in any constituency or rural municipality for the mere purpose of political effect at the sacrifice of the system the government is trying to build up."

LOCATION

In locating a main highway, two main principles are kept in view; the development of a system of highways that will bring the greatest service to the greatest number of the people of the province, and the furnishing as soon as possible the type of road needed to carry efficiently the traffic that will go over it at the least possible cost to the public treasury.

TYPE OF ROAD.

At the present time a high type gravel road has been decided upon as the proper type for Saskatchewan. Leading authorities in the United States and Canada have come to the conclusion that for moderately heavy traffic this is the most economical type of road to construct and maintain, and the most economical way to prepare for a hard surface is to build properly and maintain a good earth grade for some years and traffic will fit such a grade to bear surfacing more economically than a road freshly built.

The provincial government has a policy in distributing funds for highway construction and maintenance, which is as clearly defined and as accurately carried out as the policy of the Highway Department in locating the system of roads. The first step is the granting of the vote by the Legislature. The House goes into committee and so much money is granted for each class of work. The matter of maintenance and of road drag competitions comes before the house and certain sums are laid aside for contingencies such as washouts, repair of bridges, and a certain sum is voted for the purchase of material, reinforcing iron, steel for bridges, cement, timber, etc.

The balance of the total amount voted for highways is distributed in an equitable way throughout the whole province and for this purpose the constituency is used as the unit. An estimate is made of what may be the demands in each constituency. Consideration is given to the area, then the population, the railway service, the topography of the country, and an estimate of proposed expenditure for each constituency is arrived at. Every member of the legislature is asked to bear his share of the responsibility resting upon him as the selection of the locations on which the money will be spent in the district he represents. It is to the credit of the members of the legislature, as well as to the government that on the whole the money thus voted has been spent in a judicious and proper manner.

CONTRACTS

The activities of the Department of Highways cover an exceedingly wide field. For the year 1920 there were 780 contracts entered into with the rural municipalities for the construction and improvement of roads. The total expenditure was $406,673.15. There were 169 pieces of work handled by the road gangs employed directly by the department. The expenditure for this amounted to $423,035.34. There were 267 grants made to rural municipalities for the maintenance of the road system at an expenditure of $133,485.30. There were two contracts let by public tender and ten contracts by appointments for small amounts, the total being $11,250. The road drag competition, which is doing much to create interest in better roads, is every year becoming more popular and in 1920 there were 151 entries in this competition covering a mileage of 5211/2 miles.

BRIDGES

The construction of bridges and the maintenance of ferries are exceedingly important branches of the Department of Highway's activities. In 1920 there were 11 permanent bridges erected of the reinforced concrete arch and beam span type at an expenditure of $82,536.46; eight pairs of concrete abutments for steel bridges at an expenditure of $72,087.68; six steel bridges on pile piers built by departmental bridge crews at an expenditure of $420,-675.09; 130 new timber bridges, some of them to replace decayed structures, at a total expenditure of $95,020.12.

FERRIES

The ferries of the province are giving an excellent service to the people with a general increase each year in the number of passengers carried, and with a remarkable record of transporting from 1912 to 1920 nearly 4,000,000 passengers with no passengers losing their lives by drowning or any other cause by being carried on the ferries, and none injured through mishandling of ferries during that period. There were over 90,000 automobiles transported in 1920, and over a quarter of a million passengers. There are now 43 ferries in operation,three new ferries being established during the season. The total expenditure for this branch of the service for last year alone was $11,621.93.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

The Department of Highways also looks after the contruction of water reservoirs in localities where local wells are insufficient for a general supply and nine of these were authorized in the past year at an expenditure of $2,918.86. There were 453 surveys entered for action in the past season, and seven departmental surveyors were employed for the whole of the open season at an expenditure of $15,051.63. The Highways Department also looks after the various drainage works and good progress was made the past year on the Yellow Grass drain project and the Melaval drain, and it is expected that both of these drainage schemes will be completed in 1921. The expenditure on these amounted to $11,120.86.

The investigation of a water supply from the South Saskatchewan River for the Moose Jaw-Regina district was given this department and a report of the commission indicated the progress made with this investigation.

A general survey of gravel deposits of the province is being carried on by the department and samples for the various districts are tested, with very satisfactory results so far.

The department is co-operating with the various automobile clubs and associations in the province for the erection of sign posts to mark the direction of the main roads.

The following table gives the expenditures on highways since the inauguration of the province to 1920 inclusive:

Expenditures for Roads, Bridges, Ferries, Dams, Surveys and Other Public Improvements.

From General Revenue—
1906-1911 (inclusive)	$ 3,661,779.55
1912-1916 (inclusive)	2,566,384.84
1917-1920 (inclusive)	2,772,769.48
	$ 9,003,933.87
From Capital Account (Borrowed Money)—
1906-1911 (inclusive)	$ 1,039,482.90
1912-1916 (inclusive)	5,196,263.76
1917-1920 (inclusive)	1,604,785.42
	$ 8,140,512.08
Total Expenditure 1906 to 1920 inclusive	$17,144,475.95
Average expenditure per annum	1,142,965.06

Municipal Affairs

The Department of Municipal Affairs came into being on November 1, 1908. It was the first department of its kind in Canada, Manitoba alone having a bureau for this purpose previously. Alberta and Quebec have since followed Saskatchewan, while Ontario has established a Bureau of Municipal Affairs attached to one of the departments of the government.

The department exercises a general supervision over all municipalities in the province, giving particular attention to towns, villages and rural municipalities; advises municipal officials and councils on the provisions of the different municipal Acts and the powers and duties of councils; issues and enforces regulations governing the methods of accounting, recording and auditing to be used in towns, villages and rural municipalities; prescribes the books and forms required for the proper carrying out of the said regulations and the provisions of the respective municipal Acts. The Department of Municipal Affairs is the authority to which are submitted suggestions as to improvements and amendments in municipal laws and administration. Through inspectors appointed for the purpose, the department makes an annual inspection of the municipal office of all towns, villages and rural municipalities, and renders assistance to municipal officers respecting the discharge of their duties. The local municipal officials of the province have associations which meet annually for the discussion of matters relating to law and administration. These associations, through their respective executives, keep in close touch with the department and present any suggestion or recommendations which they may deem desirable. These suggestions and recommendations are given careful consideration in the department.

WILD LANDS TAX BRANCH

The work of the department was extended at the beginning of 1918 by the establishing of a Wild Lands Tax Branch. This branch has charge of the assessment of wild lands in unorganized areas under The Wild Lands Tax Act. The branch also exercises a supervision over the assessment of wild lands in rural municipalities. The commissioner in charge of the said branch also examines from time to time the assessment and tax rolls of the various rural municipalities and equalizes the assessment as between the different municipalities.

TOWN PLANNING BRANCH

In May, 1919, the work of the department was further extended by the establishment of the Town Planning branch. This branch examines for approval development plans of subdivisions and advises owners in respect to the requirements; examines townsites where necessary; advises municipalities on procedure and methods of action in respect to the adoption of development bylaws or town planning schemes.

GROWTH OF MUNICIPAL INSTITUTIONS.

The following statement indicates the growth of Saskatchewan's municipal institutions up to the beginning of the fiscal year of 1921:

	1905	1921
Cities	6	7
Towns	16	78
Villages	63	337
Rural Municipalities	2	301

The rural portions of the province which have not as yet been organized into rural municipalities are included in local improvement districts. The assessment of these outlying areas is made directly by the Department of Municipal Affairs, and the revenues obtained from the collection of taxes are expended in meeting the cost of roads, bridges and other improvements.

Bureau of Labor and Industries

Both capital and labor have come to realize that all labor legislation of Saskatchewan is based upon broad principles looking to the mutual development and interests of employer, employee and the province alike.

All Saskatchewan labor legislation has for its object the amelioration of the conditions of the wage earner, and it is all centred in one department branch of government known as the Bureau of Labor and Industries.

The bureau, however, has another most important function in addition to protecting and caring for the workers. It was recognized by the present Government that if the province was to have an opportunity of developing industrially, this care and protection of wage earners was not in itself sufficient, and attention must be given to the problems of industry and particularly to the gathering of authentic information to encourage industrial development. Consequently during the 1919 session, when the status of the bureau was raised from that of a branch to a separate department of the Government, its powers were extended to make possible the investigation of problems of industry and the securing of information concerning natural resources. In addition to the Regina Clearing House the Bureau has 9 branches in Saskatchewan.

ENCOURAGING INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT

An indication of how this work is to be done is found in the following extract from a speech delivered by Hon. Mr. Dunning in the Legislature when the Act regarding the bureau was introduced: "It is our attention," said the minister, "to give carefully prepared information to interested industries regarding the resources always with a view to encouraging industrial rather than speculative development. We do not desire to encourage speculative development because it is the welfare of the people of the province we have to consider, and no one can claim that the people's welfare is served by speculative development. We desire in connection with the known resources of the province to carefully analyze them, to explore them, as it were, and then to size up how this province can best co-operate in getting industries established on the ground in Saskatchewan to exploit these resources industrially.

OTHER ACTIVITIES.

The other side of the work of the bureau, the protection and care of the wage earners, is carried on under the authority of a number of Acts. Respecting wages we have a Mechanics' Act, Woodmen's Lien Act, Threshing Employees' Act, an Act respecting the Payment of Wages to Certain Employees, The Minimum Wage Act and the Fair Wage Resolution of the Legislature. In relation to the conditions of employment we have The Factories Act, The Coal Mines Regulations Act, and The Female Labor Act, and for protection of workers as a class we have in Saskatchewan The Masters and Servants Act, The Building Trades Protection Act, The Employment Agencies Act, and The Workmen's Compensation Act.

These laws are all administered from the offices of the Bureau of Labor and Industries by what is known as the inspection division. Specially qualified inspectors dealing with mines, factories and conditions of female employment are engaged by the bureau and are continually at work seeing that the various provisions of the law are equitably enforced.

EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

Another important division in the bureau is the employment division. This section takes charge of the nine local employment offices operated by the Government throughout the Province, and also manages the local clearing house. These employment offices, for whose services no charge is made, are conducted solely for the purpose of bringing together the employer seeking help and the wage earner seeking employment. The extent to which these offices fill a need within the Province is shown by the fact that during the year 1920 over 49,000 persons were placed in situations, and during the harvest season alone some 16,000 additional workers were brought into the Province and distributed to farmers.

IMPORTING DOMESTICS

Last June the announcement was made by Hon. Mr. Dunning, who is the minister in charge of the Bureau of Labor and Industries, that Miss Francis Biden was being sent to England as a special representative of the Provincial Government to work in co-operation with the officials of the Federal Government with the special mission of securing capable and experienced domestic help for Saskatchewan.

In making the announcement Mr. Dunning said:

"There has been a crying need for domestic help in Saskatchewan for some years past, particularly on the farms, and we believe we may be able to supply this need to a certain extent and possibly in time the supply may prove equal to the demand. We depend upon the women of the Province to co-operate with our bureau so as to ensure that the girls we bring over will stay in domestic service once we get them there—that is, of course, until the inevitable happens, and they have homes of their own."

The scheme then set working has met with conspicuous success. One hundred and thirty-four girls have been brought over and while a little shuffling about was necessary with four or five of the more restless before they were finally settled, out of the first hundred just one girl failed to live up to her agreement, left her position without warning and disappeared, with an indebtedness unpaid of about $10. The record of the rest is exceedingly satisfactory. Letters have been received from many employers bearing testimony to the intelligence and industry of their domestic help, and the girls tell how kind and friendly their employers are, how they are making friends, learning Canadian ways, and how they are writing to relatives and friends in the Old Country to persuade them to come to Saskatchewan.

A total of over $10,500 was advanced by the Provincial Government to pay the passage money and other expenses of the girls until they are placed, and over half of this sum has already been paid back, 31 of the girls having paid up in full without waiting for the expiration of the period allowed by the Government for payment. The system followed is that all parties making application for domestic servants must deposit $75 with the Government and this amount is reimbursed them in monthly instalments from the girls' wages. It is stipulated that no girl is to be paid less than $30 per month, and that not more than $10 per month is to be deducted from her wages. No fee is charged by the department for filling applications.

Natural Resources

There is not the slightest doubt that there exist in Saskatchewan resources that will form the basis of much profitable industry. We have some of the finest clay deposits on the American continent; we have extensive pulpwood forests, water powers capable of great development and coal areas almost inexhaustible. These resources are being carefully studied and authentic information obtained, which is placed at the disposal of intending investors, and there is every reason to believe that from investigation thus far the province offers good opportunities for industrial development.

CLAY PRODUCTS

The field for research is so great and some of the problems so difficult that very expert help is required, and progress must of necessity be slow. The bureau, however, has already done much in securing and studying information respecting the clay resources. A number of clay deposits have been located, samples of which have been worked into very fine specimens of face brick, floor tile, pottery and chinaware. With reliable information as to the suitability of various clay deposits a large part of the element of risk in establishing a clay products plant can be eliminated, and it is expected that plants producing numerous lines of high grade clay products will soon be established.

The bureau has spent considerable time and money in investigating new deposits of coal. Hitherto practically our only development of the coal resources has been in the south-eastern part of the province, but the bureau has located a number of outcroppings and coal indications in the western, north-western and north-eastern parts, which will be explored and tested with a view to ascertaining their commercial possibilities. The Government has also contributed largely to the experiments of the Lignite Utilisation Board, which is endeavouring to make the coal mined in the Estevan field more efficient and more readily marketable.

LIGNITE UTILIZATION PLANT

It has been announced that the product of the Lignite Utilisation Board's plant will be placed on the market early this summer. This is the result of several years of effort on the part of the Government of Saskatchewan, which at length succeeded in having the Lignite Utilisation Board appointed in the fall of 1918. The Federal Government and the Government of Manitoba and Saskatchewan jointly appropriated the sum of $100,000 for the work. An experimental plant was erected and the board investigated the relative weathering and storage qualities of the raw, air dried, oven dried and carbonised lignite; the heat and rate of carbonisation; the best fineness of the material to be briquetted; the binders available; the mixers, and qualities of binders necessary. The board believes that all these problems have now been successfully solved. The board at the outset was faced with the fact that nowhere in Canada or in the United States was there a commercially successful plant of this kind, but it prepared to show that the manufacture of these briquettes is commercially feasible. We shall soon, it is hoped, have a fuel with almost the same heating value as anthracite at a price lower than anthracite before the war and then, as Hon. Mr. Dunning put it, "the eternal bogey we have in the winter as to whether we are going to have enough coal will be done away with."

SODIUM SULPHATE

In our sodium sulphate, we have a resource of enormous possibilities. For instance, in one bed of this material, which is used with wood pulp in the manufacture of paper, engineers have estimated that there are six million tons. It has proved to be 96.36 per cent. pure, probably the highest in purity in the world. Many inquiries from paper mills in different parts of Canada regarding this deposit have already been made. Several other deposits of sodium sulphate have been located.

DEVELOPMENT IN THE NORTH

The development of the great north country is one of the ideals of the bureau and preliminary work in this direction has already been undertaken. During the summer season last year there was equipped and sent into that country a well balanced exploration party. This party travelled north from Prince Albert through Montreal lake, Lac la Rouge, down the Churchill river, Sturgeon Weir, Beaver lake, Cumberland House, and out by way of The Pas. The work of this part was of necessity a preliminary survey only, during which the possibilities of mineral development, fishing, water powers, timber and coal were merely noted. It is intended that a similar party should go north this summer to make a more intensive study of those resources which were reported by the first party as being worthy of immediate attention.

Already the bureau is in communication with capital in other parts of this country, as well as in Great Britain, to whom every information is being given concerning the possibilities of profitable operations in Saskatchewan.

Women and Their Interests.

The women of Saskatchewan were the first in Canada to vote on a Provincial issue, and as they now enjoy full rights of citizenship, all legislation passed by the Legislature of the Province is of the same importance to women as to men. There is however, certain legislation of particular interest to women as safeguarding the welfare of children and the home and a bulletin was recently issued by the present Government dealing with "Some Legislation Affecting Women and Children," from which the following brief extracts are taken. While much of this legislation is an inheritance from former governments, yet the present Provincial Government in the comparatively brief time it has been in office, is responsible for a large number of amendments and changes and also for the origination of many new statutes affecting particularly women and children.

THE CHILDREN'S PROTECTION ACT

This Act was overhauled in the session of 1917-18 and a large number of important changes were made. It was made compulsory for all cities of 10,000 population or more to maintain a children's shelter, and each such city must appoint one or more probation officers. When a children's aid society dissolves, the care of the children devolves upon the superintendent.

The description of a neglected child was extended to include habitual vagrants; those employed at night; an illegitimate child whose mother is unable to maintain it, and whose parents or only living parent have or has been convicted of an offence under this Act or under The Criminal Code of Canada.

Evidence at a child's case must be taken under oath and written down, and depositions must be filed with the superintendent.

The expense of conveying a child to a shelter or industrial school shall be paid by the municipality in which the child is committed. The municipality where the child last resided for one year is responsible for its maintenance in a shelter, with right to collect money so spent in maintenance from the parents, and if they refuse to pay they may be imprisoned. Several other minor changes were made.

THE JUVENILE COURTS ACT

This Act was passed at the first session of 1917, and provides for the establishment of a juvenile court in every city and town in the Province, and the jurisdiction of each shall extend outside the limits of the city or town over such areas as may be added by the Lieutenant Governer in Council, who may also establish a juvenile court for any rural municipality, rural district or village. The procedure of these courts is fully prescribed, and minor amendments have been made from time to time since the Act was first passed.

THE MOTHERS' PENSION ACT

The Mothers' Pension Act was passed by this Government at the second session of 1917, and provides for the payment of three dollars per week per child, to enable an indigent mother to rear her children herself. Formerly provision was made for the recovery of the amount of the pension from the municipality to which the mother belonged, but by an amendment passed at the last session the Government is now bearing the entire cost of these pensions. A total of 523 pensions have been granted of which 72 have been cancelled, and there are 451 mothers now receiving this pension.

AID TO INDIGENT EXPECTANT MOTHERS

A new policy was inaugurated by this Government under regulations of the Bureau of Public Health. Aid to the extent of $25 is given to expectant mothers who for financial reasons may be unable to procure the necessary medical, hospital, nursing aid or clothing for herself or her expected child. Saskatchewan is the only Province in Canada doing such work, neither is it carried on anywhere else in North America.

THE INFANTS' ACT

This Act is of great interest to women. It deals with such matters as the handling of an infant's property, the powers and authority of appointed guardians and of the official guardian. The practice and procedure in such matters were formerly prescribed in certain rules of court, but this Government thought it well, in the session of 1918, to embody the law in this statute.

THE LEGITIMATION ACT

This Act is a very important one. It provides that where the parents of any child born out of lawful wedlock have inter-married after the birth of the child, either prior to or subsequent to the passing of this Act, the child shall for all purposes be deemed to be and to have been legitimate from the time of birth. This Act was passed in 1919.

THE HOMESTEAD ACT

While this Government did not originate this Act, which was passed in 1915, it has made many important amendments to it, and all of these amendments were designed to carry out the principle and intention of the Act, which is to recognise and secure the interest of the wife, or of the widow, in the homestead.

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PROPERTY ACT

At the session of 1918-19, this Government amended this Act by providing means for disposing summarily of any question that may arise between husband and wife as to the title to or possession of property.

THE UNION HOSPITAL ACT

The first Union Hospital Act was passed shortly before the present Government took office. This Act, however, was repealed, and a new Act passed at the first session of 1917. An idea of the way in which the first legislation on this subject was altered and expanded by this Government may be gained from the fact that the original Act contained only 17 sections whereas there are now 63 sections.

Alternative methods of organizing a hospital district are now provided for, and the Act is therefore in two parts. Part 1 applies to two or more complete rural municipalities co-operating with any member of urban municipalities to establish a union hospital at a location to be mutually decided upon; Part 2 applies to complete rural municipalities or portions of the same co-operating with any number of urban municipalities to establish a union hospital, the boundaries of the district and the location of the proposed hospital being defined by the Lieutenant Governor in Council. The net result is that every resident ratepayer in a district where a union hospital is established, is entitled, by payment of taxation levied to retire debentures issued for the purpose of the hospital, to free hospital treatment.

As the women have the same voting power as the men, and as the provision of hospitals is likely to be of more benefit to the female than to the male section of the community, the women of Saskatchewan are vitally interested in this method of providing hospital accommodation, which is proving highly successful.

THE MINIMUM WAGE ACT

This Act was passed in 1919, in order to fix standard minimum wages, hours of employment and conditions of labor for females. Under its provisions the minimum wage board was created, consisting of five persons, two of whom are females. This board has issued a number of orders, declaring what wages are adequate to furnish the necessary cost of living, defining what are reasonable hours, and prescribing proper sanitary conditions.

THE VOCATIONAL TRAINING ACT

This Act was passed at the session of 1918-19. It provides means by which the board of trustees of a town or district or a high school district may carry on vocational or technical training either in connection with the day school or as evening classes. The board of management is a committee of ten, four to be named by the trustee board, three to be employers of labor named by the council of the municipality, and three to be employees named by such local organization as the board of trustees may determine.

ACT RESPECTING THE SASKATCHEWAN REGISTERED NURSES' ASSOCIATION

This Act provides for the incorporation of a body to be known as The Saskatchewan Registered Nurses' Association. To be entitled to register all nurses must pass an examination prescribed by an examining board appointed by the University of Saskatchewan, or must produce certificates of having passed examinations accepted as equivalent by the said board. The Act was passed in 1917, and in the session of 1919-20 an amendment was made providing for the education, training and supervision of a class of women to be known as nursing housekeepers, and for the registration of those who have completed the course of study, passed the necessary examinations, and satisfactorily met any other prescribed tests.

THE EGG MARKETING ACT

This Act, passed in 1920, deals with a matter in which many women are interested. The Act is designed to encourage dealers to exercise care in the handling and marketing of eggs; to discourage the practice of some producers of keeping eggs too long. All retailers handling eggs must be licensed, and they are prohibited from buying or selling eggs unfit for human consumption.

NEGLECTED CHILDREN

In carrying out its general policy of working to ameliorate the lot of the unfortunate, the helpless and the afflicted, the Saskatchewan Provincial Government has devoted special attention to neglected and dependent children. A special branch of Attorney General's Department devotes its whole activities to the care of neglected and dependent children, and at the close of the year 1920 there were 1,795 children under supervision. During the year 238 children became the wards of the Government.

At the close of 1920 there were awaiting homes under the care of this branch, 74 children; 21 at the Moose Jaw Children's Shelter; 22 at the Regina Children's Shelter; 10 at the Prince Albert Orphanage; 9 at the Catholic Convent, Ituna; 5 at the Sacred Heart Convent, Yorkton; 3 at the Babies' Welfare, Regina; and 1 at the Saskatoon Children's Shelter. There are also a number of children in various reform institutions, leaving the large total in foster homes in the Province of 1,650.

The following are a few brief extracts from the annual report of the Superintendent of Neglected Children:

"The greater portion of the younger children are found foster homes shortly after being taken in hand, and placed out on an agreement between the foster parents and the Superintendent, as it is not anticipated by the Act that they shall remain in institutions longer than is actually necessary. These agreements are of three kinds. One which is styled a foster agreement, provides for the practical adoption of the child without any stipulation as to remuneration, and is particularly suited to the very young child who has become a member of the family. The older child agreement provides particularly for the schooling and training of the child with a small remuneration, and the third agreement for the child who is beyond compulsory school age, or who is found cannot be induced to continue school and is placed on a monthly or yearly salary.

"All of the salary earned by such children after providing for the necessary clothing is forwarded to the department and deposited to the credit of the child in his or her own name in a bank in trust by the superintendent. At present we have two hundred such accounts with a total of over seventeen thousand dollars and when children become of an age when they are allowed to do for themselves and when they are in need of funds for any specific reason to invest for themselves, this money is handed over to them. The foster homes are regularly inspected by inspectors employed for the purpose and every detail of the home surroundings gone into and reported on, including private interviews with the ward to ascertain if there is anything wrong or if any dissatisfaction exists. While foster homes are carefully selected, it is needless to say that some may be found to be unsuitable for the particular class of child placed, and some homes may, on account of changed conditions, become unsuitable when it is found necessary to remove the child. It is remarkable, however, how few of these cases we have to deal with and as to the Act provides a penalty for any person, who having the custody of a child ill treats or neglects it, there is ample provision for its welfare and safety.

"Many are under the impression that the Government has a big institution where children can be placed and kept for an indefinite period and eventually restored to their parents. They do not understand that children can only be taken and scattered in foster homes. It is only troublesome children who are sent to institutions. For the normal child or deaf children who are sent this department, the Government has only temporary shelters where children are held while awaiting the proper and suitable foster home.

"Troublesome boys are sent to the Boys' Detention Home at Regina, and the girls are cared for in social service institutions outside of the Province.

"Deaf children are sent to the Deaf School at Winnipeg, and blind children to the School for the Blind at Brandon. These, except in a few cases, are not wards of the Government, but the Government bears the expense of their maintenance and tuition.

"They are doing splendid work at the School for the deaf in Winnipeg as well as at the Blind School and there are some very bright students among those afflicted with loss of sight or deafness. Cases of blindness or deafness are reported to us sometimes by parents or relatives, but usually by the school inspectors, and the Province sees that these children are given a good education."

JUVENILE COURTS

The Juvenile Court was established about three years ago, and much good has resulted from its operations. Very many young delinquents, instead of being charged, convicted and treated in the same way as adult criminals, have been given a chance to retrieve their characters.

To prove that the boys who have come into the court during the three years are not criminals, the records show that out of 265 cases only 23 came into court a second time. This excellent result is largely due to the efforts of the probation officers, who have been described as the very right arms of the court. These officers not only do the most valuable work in guiding and helping children who have been guilty of wrong-doing, but by patrolling the streets, taking home children found out late at night, visiting pool rooms and generally keeping children out of mischief, they prevent very many from going wrong.

Comparatively few children come into court through their own fault. The records of the year 1920 show that out of 314 cases only 103 come into court when the blame might be attached to themselves, and from this number another 37 might be deducted, leaving only 66. From this it may be inferred that for the most part the home and the home training is what is at fault, and it would manifestly be unjust to punish the children who fall down as the result of conditions for which they are not responsible.

BOYS' DETENTION HOME

The report of the National Committee on Mental Hygiene gives a brief description of the buildings and grounds and says:

"Most of the boys in residence attend school. They receive a thorough physical training, and from the standpoint of health, are in a splendid condition—a pleasing contrast to the situation found in many detention homes.

"All the inmates were well kept and appeared cheerful and happy. Their deportment was sufficient proof that the influence of those in charge was of the highest character. It was pleasing to note that there were no bars or bolts and that discipline was being maintained by kindly methods."

This comment from unprejudiced and impartial authority is appreciated by the officials who have been working so hard to carry out the purpose of this home—the turning into good citizens of boys who were in danger of becoming a menace to the community.

THE CARE OF THE INSANE

No higher compliment has been paid to the Governor of Saskatchewan than was given in the official report of the Canadian National Committee of Mental Hygiene on the completion of a mental hygiene survey of the Province of Saskatchewan, conducted on the invitation of Hon. W. M. Martin, Premier of the Province, to assist the Government in promoting a suitable policy for the prevention, diagnosis, treatment and cause of mental abnormality. This committee is entirely independent of any Government or institution. The following are some extracts from the report:

"The Province has shown a deep interest in the affairs of the insane, and has been almost lavish in its expenditures to provide accommodation for patients requiring custodial care. Dr. MacNeill and his assistant, Dr. Campbell, at the Battleford Hospital for the insane, are capable and enthusiastic administrators, and have gathered about them a staff willing and anxious to do the most advanced work. During the war they were, of course greatly hampered, but in spite of that carried on most courageously.

"The medical staff at the Battleford Hospital shows a keen interest in the scientific study and care of their patients, and the absence of excitement in the wards was to be explained largely by the fact that the hydro-therapeutic treatment is employed intelligently and with good effect. No less than ten continuous baths are to be found in the hospital, and at the time of our visit they were nearly all occupied by restless patients. Something between forty and fifty hydro-treatments per day are given, and the arrangements for the administration of different forms of spray douches and electric baths are admirable.

"Our report in 1918 was on the whole laudatory, and it was considered that Battleford ranked high among Canadian institutions. At the present time its claim to pre-eminence is more than ever established. Those of us who have spent many years in connection with hospitals realize that an institution depends on something more than elaborate buildings for its success, and although Battleford is magnificently equipped in a material sense, yet it has a personnel in charge that would accomplish splendid things no matter how meager and crude the surroundings.

"Possibly the most outstanding feature of the work at Battleford is the development in occupational therapy—a line of treatment that produces the best results both with acute and chronic cases. An institution with its patients fully occupied is one that is easy to manage, and a happy home for its inmates."

Not only is everything possible done for the patients when they are in hospital, but a separate branch of the Public Works Department administrates estates of patients. With the increase in the population of the Province came a proportional increase in the number of mentally ill, and the number of estates administered has increased from 65 in the year 1915—the first year after the branch was established—to 146 in 1921. The total value of the real estate administered at present amounts to nearly half a million dollars and the total estates, over three quarters of a million dollars.

The Province of Saskatchewan was the second in the Dominion of Canada to undertake this exceedingly valuable service and there is no Province in the Dominion where such services have been of greater benefit to the dependents and patients.

In a great many cases the affairs of the mentally ill who return to their home are in a far better position than when they were admitted to the mental hospital. It is perfectly natural that this should be the case, as most of the patients before their mental disorder reached the stage making hospital treatment necessary, had been letting things run down and the very nature of the illness has made it difficult, if not impossible, to properly look after their business, while they have been suffering from mental disorder, if the case has not been considered serious enough to have them committed to hospital.

A large number of the estates handled are not shown in the subjoined table, as they were temporary cases where the patients returned in a short time to their homes, and these short term cases have in many instances been the most difficult to look after. A large majority of the estates handled are in the country and the duties of the administrator are much more complicated than if the estates were in cities or towns, as it means that provision must be made to look after the farm and the live stock, to provide for seed and feed, and in years of crop failures and scarcity of feed the responsibility has been very heavy. The increasing value of the estates and the heartfelt gratitude of the patients who have returned to their homes and found their farms in nearly every instance much better than when they left them, is a tribute to the efficiency of this branch.

The work began with the bringing of 416 patients from Brandon, when the mental hospital at Battleford was opened. The following table gives the figures from April 30, 1915, to February, 1921:

Apl. 30	No. of Ests	No. Rlsd	Cash in Bank	Total Value of Real Estate	Total Assets
1915.....	65		$ 7,172	$ 99,020	$126,233
1916.....	105	6	21,264	106,990	150,099
1917.....	158	10	46,261	199,570	259,977
1918.....	206	4	32,260	269,425	400,979
1919.....	307	20	39,224	322,741	497,884
1920.....	390	5	26,761	405,801	603,619
1921.....	416	7	60,277	198,311	767,624

While the hospital at Battleford is considered today one of the best institutions on the continent for the mentally ill and while Saskatchewan has the lowest percentage of insane of any province in Canada, it has been found necessary to build a second mental hospital, and there is now under construction at Weyburn a new mental hospital which will cost over two million dollars when finished.

When this building is completed it will be an institution second to none on the continent in its equipment for rendering the best services to those who may require treatment. The building will be 980 feet long with administrative section, and the end portion of each wing three storeys high with basement, while the wings proper will be two storeys high and basement. At the present time it is intended to erect the administrative and two wings only, but provision is made in the plan for the addition of two more wings.

Immediate accommodation will be provided for approximately 400 patients and the additional wings will accommodate 200 patients more.

One of the most serious problems which has confronted the officials at Battleford has been the care of patients who are also sufferers from tubercular and other pulmonary diseases. In planning the new building at Weyburn the architect has provided spacious and airy quarters with large verandahs facing the south where patients of this class can be given every care.

Bureau of Public Health

The public health laws of the Province of Saskatchewan are amongst the most advanced of any of the Provinces of Canada, and many of them, particularly those relating to water supply and sewage disposal, have been found so satisfactory that they have been copied by practically all the other provinces.

The public health laws of Saskatchewan contain the regulations issued and administered by the Commissioner of Public Health, and the following list gives some idea of the many subjects covered by specific regulations and of the scope of the work of the bureau:

Infectious Diseases.	Health Districts.
Water and Sewage.	Tenement Houses.
Hotels and Restaurants.	Plumbing.
	Trachoma.
Common Lodging Houses.	Hospitals.
	Dairies.
Embalmers and Undertakers.	Camps.
	Cemeteries.
Nuisances.	Vaccine and Serums.

HOSPITALS

At the end of the year 1916 there were twenty-seven hospitals scattered over the Province, which were supervised by the Government and aided by grants. These provided good hospital accommodation in the cities and towns in which they were located, but the Government saw that some action should be taken if the rural residents were to enjoy the hospital privileges afforded to those living in cities. The scarcity of medical and nursing aid and the rapid increase of the population had brought about a state of affairs in which the old method of establishing and maintaining hospitals by voluntary contributions was entirely inadequate. The Union Hospital Act of 1917 was the Government's solution of the problem.

Put as briefly as possible, the system thus set up is as follows: Two or more municipalities co-operate in establishing and maintaining a hospital at a point to be mutually agreed upon. For the construction and maintenance of the hospital, debentures may be sold and a tax levied of a little over 2 mills on the dollar or roughly $5 per quarter section. For this small sum, hospital treatment free of charge is provided for the ratepayer, his wife, family and dependents.

The main consideration about these hospitals is the adequate provision which they afford for maternity cases. Where one of these hospitals exist, the prairie mother has a chance to get away from the undesirable conditions inseparable from childbirth on an isolated farm, and provision can be made against emergencies and unforseen complications, which the equipment and staff of a modern hospital afford at this critical period. As the secretary of a rural municipality, where there is a Union Hospital, has put it, "we are saving the lives of our women for the small cost of three-quarters of a cent per acre."

Union hospitals have been built and are in operation at Edam, Eston, Kerrobert, Lampman, Lloydminster, Rosetown, Shaunavon, Wadena, Davidson and Kindersley. Union hospital districts have been established tributary to Battleford, Biggar, Cabri, Colonsay, Cut Knife, Govan, Dinsmore, Herbert, Horizon, Indian Head, Kamsack, Melfort, Norquay, Moosomin, Outlook, Strasbourg, Unity and Wynyard, and construction will be undertaken in most of these districts this year.

OTHER ACTIVITIES

Effort is made to inspect and report on all hospitals receiving Government aid and to encourage them to reach the minimum standard set up by the Bureau of Public Health. At present Saskatchewan has a hospital bed for every four hundred of our population, and in maternity cases one of every seven births occurs in a hospital, a record which compares very favorably with that of other Provinces and States of the American Union.

It was found that many of the deaths among infants were due to preventable causes and a campaign of education was started, particularly for young mothers, by holding infant welfare conferences. Nineteen of these clinics were held in 1919 at which lectures were given and defects pointed out. Home nursing classes were added to this work, and two nurses carrying complete equipment for demonstrating, gave instruction in the general care of the sick and special instruction regarding the care of young children.

Sanitary inspectors are continually touring the Province inspecting and reporting, conferring with boards of health, holding educative meetings on the subjects of food protection, ventilation and precautions to be observed against communicable disease, and visiting and regulating lumber camps. Their first object is to enlist the co-operation of local authorities in sanitary measures that will improve the health and comfort of residents.

Sanitary engineering is one of the most important lines of work of the bureau. Careful supervision is given to all water supply and sewage systems in order to safeguard the purity of public water supplies, and to see that rivers and lakes are not polluted. Much care and time has been given to the problem of sewage disposal at institutions and public buildings where there is no municipal sewage system. An extensive survey of the systems of sewage disposal in rural homes has been made and full information on this important matter is being disseminated.

A very careful survey of city milk supplies has recently been concluded. Field conditions were examined and in addition bacterial counts and sediment tests were made, the analytical work being done by an experienced bacteriologist. As the different cities show themselves willing and eager to adopt the suggestions of the bureau, a marked improvement should soon be seen, with a corresponding reduction in the amount of milk-borne diseases.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASES

Whenever an outbreak of any communicable disease occurs, the inspectors of the bureau are immediately rushed to the scene, where they see to the enforcement of the regulations, give advice as to methods of control, and take measures to guard against spreading. The success or otherwise of the efforts of the bureau in this connection can best be ascertained by an examination of the statistics showing the death rate per 100,000 of the population from the various infectious or contagious diseases.

In typhoid fever, looking over the records of the years from 1910 to 1919, it is found that during the first five years the mortality rate per 100,000 of the people from this disease was 21.01, while in the last half of this decade the rate was only 8.06, a very significant and encouraging result. The reduction is due to improved sanitary arrangements, and also to the use of typhoid vaccine, which the bureau has always strongly advocated.

In diphtheria there has been an appreciable reduction both in the number of cases and in the number of deaths, especially in the last four years. The cases were reduced from 1,005 in 1917 to 180 in 1920, and the death rate from 14.1 per 100,000 in 1917 to 9.5 in 1919. This reduction is without doubt due to the action the Government took in September, 1917, in supplying diphtheria antitoxin free of charge to all physicians in the Province. Formerly antitoxin was used so sparingly that many unnecessary deaths occurred, as the poorer people could not afford to pay for the necessary antitoxin. In 1919 it was distributed free by the Bureau of Public Health at a cost of $2,263 to the Government. Had this been bought at prevailing store prices, it would have cost over $18,000, thus showing a saving to the people in one year alone of over $15,000.

The death rate from tuberculosis is due in some measure to the early cases taking advantage of sanatorium treatment. The rate has fallen from 33 in 1917 to 25.6 per 100,000 in 1919. The Government has done and will continue to do all in its power to combat this disease, which is one of the most fatal we have.

A special nurse was detailed to look after trachoma cases in 1919, and after a survey 123 cases were found. 139 cases were discovered in schools, and 74 of these were cured by December of the same year. Regular visits are made to all schools in a certain district, as well as to other districts where trachoma is prevalent.

The Government has been very energetic in its efforts to control venereal disease, and its legislation in this respect is very advanced. Eight dispensaries have been established in different parts of the Province, where free diagnosis and treatment is given to any suffering from these diseases who present themselves. Two social workers are engaged in seeing that cases requiring treatment do not neglect same.

Several other diseases might be taken up in the same way and the success of the bureau's efforts shown, but perhaps enough has been said to show that the Bureau of Public Health is a live department of the Government, eager to seize every opportunity to promote and protect the health of the people of Saskatchewan.

Saskatchewan's Policy towards her Soldiers and Returned Men

The first step taken by the Government of Saskatchewan to protect the property and interests of volunteers and reservists, either in our own army or navy or those of our allies, was the passage during the special session of the Legislature in September, 1914, of a Moratorium Act, under which the Lieutenant-Governor in-Council was given power to postpone payment of debts. A number of proclamations were issued under this Act, until in March, 1916, The Act for the Relief of Volunteers and Reservists was passed, which cancelled these proclamations as it included all their provisions.

The Government in the elections of 1917 provided that three members should be elected to represent the soldiers in the legislature, one for the soldiers in Great Britain, and two for the soldiers in France and Belgium.

In order to protect and exempt from taxation certain property of members, and their dependents, of our military and naval forces the Government passed a number of amendments to existing Acts.

In cities, towns and villages it was provided that the house and lots occupied as a "home" by a soldier or his wife, at the time such soldier was finally accepted for overseas service were exempted from taxation to the extent of $50 per annum (except in villages, where there was no limit) from the first day of the year of enlistment until the year following the discharge of the soldier, but not beyond the year 1920. The soldier was exempted from poll tax, and buildings and grounds owned and occupied by a branch of the Great War Veterans' Association were exempted from all taxation. Pensions paid to a member, or ex-member, of our military or naval forces, or to a dependent of such, were exempted from income tax, and power was given to grant aid to such organizations as the Patriotic Fund and Red Cross Society.

In rural municipalities one-quarter section occupied by a soldier or his wife as a home at the time such soldier was finally accepted for overseas service, or which was at that time his "homestead," and an additional quarter section within the same or an adjoining municipality was exempted from taxation for one year from the discharge of the soldier or until January 1, 1921; in the case of the death of the soldier on active service the benefits of this property exemption accrued to his personal representatives. Such exemption is retroactive to the first day of enlistment of the soldier, and is subject to the provisions mentioned.

In local improvement and school districts, the same exemption from taxation was granted. The exemption in this case is also retroactive, and the personal representatives benefit in the same way in case the soldier dies on active service.

Under the Wild Lands Tax Act exemption from the tax is provided for under certain conditions for a resident upon a farm of at least 80 acres, and by an amendment to the Act an individual owner absent on active service is deemed to be in actual residence upon the land.

EMPLOYMENT

Following out the suggestions adopted at an interprovincial conference held at Ottawa, a Returned Soldiers' Employment Commission was organized for Saskatchewan in November, 1915, and its work was taken over on April 1, 1917, by the Saskatchewan Returned Soldiers' Employment Commission, incorporated by a bill passed by the Legislature of that year.

The matter of employment, however, is not now in the hands of the commission, having been taken over by the Dominion-Provincial Employment Service. The Dominion Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment have an "Information and Service" branch, with an information officer in each military district, who may have a representative in each labor office, and whose duties are to keep a record of, and assist in any way, all returned men seeking employment.

RETURNED MEN IN AGRICULTURE

Realising the increasing necessity for mixed farming, the Saskatchewan Government, through the Department of Agriculture, has made provision for supplying bona fide farmers with good foundation stock at first cost and on easy terms. The stock is supplied under various options, and two of these options, under which the terms are especially easy, are offered to returned soldiers only.

Under legislation passed in 1917, a number of existing co-operative creameries were united into one company, to which the Government can give financial assistance to the extent of 75 per cent of the cost, for the construction, remodelling, equipment and maintenance in Saskatchewan of creameries, cold storage warehouses, cheese factories, etc. In the event of certain localities of the Province being colonized by returned soldiers, on application sufficiently signed, the full cost of such acquisition or construction may be loaned by the Government.

EDUCATION

The Government, through the Department of Education, made a number of special concessions to returned men who desired to enter or continue in the teaching profession, making it easier for them either to obtain permanent teaching certificates, or to enter the normal schools.

The children of deceased or disabled soldiers of the army of Canada or of any of His Majesty's Allies, may be given assistance in the matter of education for a period up to three years after the applicant is accepted, or shall have obtained the standing required for entrance to the university, or for a second class certificate.

WILLS

An important amendment to The Wills Act, which is retroactive to August 4, 1914, reads as follows: "A soldier being in actual military service or a mariner or seaman at sea, may dispose of his personalty in the manner in which he might have done before the passage of this Act, and may dispose of his real estate in the same manner as his personal: and he may do so in either case notwithstanding that he may be under the age of twenty-one years."

THE SOLDIER SETTLEMENT BOARD

The duties of the Soldier Settlement Board include the carrying out of measures to aid soldiers and sailors in resuming occupations in civil life, and particularly the granting of land to them. In view of the national importance of this question and in order that there should be no obstacle to prompt action on the part of the Province of Saskatchewan while the Legislature was not in session, an Act was passed giving to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council all the powers of the Legislature itself to assist the Soldier Settlement Board in the furtherance of the objects for which it was created, which include the taking of land expropriation proceedings.

THE SOLDIER'S ESTATES BRANCH

This branch of the Department of the Attorney-General was created in 1918. Its aim has been to furnish information and assistance to soldiers and to the dependents of those who have been killed or who have died on active service. Judging by the extent to which the services of the branch have been invoked, it has met with no small measure of success, for it was found that having the law department of the Government deal with their difficulties in civil life appealed greatly to the soldiers.

The administration of the estates of deceased soldiers represents the major part of the work of the branch. Since it began to function, there have been prepared for court documents in support of 568 applications for Grants of Administration of Probate. The aim of those in charge of the branch has been to place the deceased's beneficiaries in the possession and enjoyment of the property to which they are entitled with all possible expedition and with a minimum of trouble. The question of expense does not arise, as the services of the branch are free, and provision is made for the payment by the Government of the usual Surrogate Court fees and the Land Titles fees incidental to the transmission and transfer of estate realty.

The correspondence of the branch has always been heavy, and advice has been given in over 12,000 cases, involving many complicated questions of law and fact. In several instances the inquiries on matters of law have crystallized into very beneficial legislation in the interests of the soldier body. As examples of this might be mentioned the provisions enabling a soldier under twenty-one years of age to make a valid will and the legalizing of soldiers' wills disposing of land without the usual formalities of law.

Saskatchewan's Telephone System

Man's greatest achievement in the intercommunicatory invention is the telephone. Its possibilities for practical use created at first no very great nor very general impression, but its position is now established as an indispensable adjunct of modern comfort and convenience.

The application of its use was at first confined within and between clusters of population. The outlying scattered masses had not been reached nor had any apparent effort been made to render available its service until a general demand began to arise in agricultural districts for a utility so pre-eminently fitted for general use. Suggestions began to be made that the retention of control of a utility so fitted to ameriolate conditions and increase productive capacity should to corporations but should be assumed by government. Suggestions gave way to definite expression, and definite expression gave way to demand—the wider the area the more general the demand until governments began to consider ways and means of meeting the popular wish.

In the prairie provinces, devoted altogether to agricultural pursuits, where distances are long and seasons short, and where the people are not only progressive but aggressive, the demand as might be expected, was unanimous and insistent. It had sympathetic response, each province adopting a plan of development of the service which it believed best suited to meet the situation.

GOVERNMENT CO-OPERATES WITH PEOPLE.

Caution was exercised by Saskatchewan. This was prompted by rumored indifferent success which had attended efforts made elsewhere to cover the rural field. The services of an expert were engaged. Information was collected and compiled. Consideration and digestion of this information brought decision to adopt the policy of co-operation. By this plan it was hoped to more quickly overtake the needs of the rural district and as well assure freedom of expression and action—logical expansion—cheaper maintenance, lower rates, more efficient management, and natural definition of boundaries of telephone areas. Decision of the government was crystallized in legislation, the outstanding features of which are:

(a) Government ownership of trunk lines and exchanges.

(b) Local ownership and control by farmers of rural lines.

(c) Government supervision of all lines.

(d) Elimination of the dividend-earning principle from the use of rural lines.

But the effort of the government to meet the popular wish did not end with the passing of legislation. It entered activity into co-operation with the people in developing and maintaining a rural service by:

(1) Maintaining a staff whose time is devoted wholly to organization of rural companies when undertaken by rural companies.

(2) Furnishing the necessary forms for this work as well as forms for the application and authorization of debenture issues;

(3) Attending to incorporation procedure required by the company;

(4) Placing supporting information before the Local Government Board when application is made by the company for permission to issue debentures;

(5) Advice in matters pertaining to the running of the affairs of the companies;

(6) Inspecting the construction of rural lines;

(7) Conducting and maintaining a school of instruction during the winter months where farmers or their sons may gain practical knowledge of troubles that interrupt service on rural lines and the way to remove them;

(8) Free advice at any time from our engineering, commercial and traffic branches;

(9) Installing and maintaining central equipment in the smaller exchanges and placing the operating of the service in such places under the control of connecting companies.

RESULTS ACHIEVED

And there has been abundant reason for satisfaction with results achieved through the policy of co-operation, not only along the line of rapid extension but as well with the substantial character of initial construction work done. It is of high standard and calculated to ensure service—and to continue to do so with the exercise of ordinary care in maintenance and operating methods. There has been erected within the province under the plan adopted:

(1) Approximately 58,000 miles of poles which if placed in continuous line would reach more than twice around the world or fifteen times across the continent — an average of over 5,000 miles per year.

(2) Approximately 200,000 miles of wire strung—enough to encircle the earth eight times or cross the continent fifty times—an average of 20,000 miles per year.

(3) Approximately 58,000 rural subscribers or more than twice as many as in the other prairie provinces combined although they started development of service about the same time.

(4) Approximately 90,000 telephone stations in the Province or one for every ten of the population—a development equal to the United States to the south with its many very large centres of population. With an average of five users to the phone 450,000 of our people are within easy reach of service—that means half the population.

So that the hope that prompted the adoption of the policy for speedily supplying service has had satisfactory realization in that it finds the province covered in great part with small systems operated as a convenience, managed locally, standardized in construction to meet the requirements of good telephone practice with a central office acting in an advisory and supervisory capacity and all linked together with trunk lines, the whole giving a system operated by the government and the people to meet the needs of the various sections of the province.

SASKATCHEWAN PROVINCIAL POLICE HEADQUARTERS, REGINA. SAMPLE TYPE OF PROVINCIAL PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

Public Buildings

Since the Province of Saskatchewan was formed in 1905, there have been constructed by the provincial government, public buildings to the value of $1,971,623, and at the present time public buildings to the value of $2,104,073 are under construction.

At the time the province was created, all government buildings in that portion of the Northwest Territories out of which Saskatchewan was erected belonged to the Dominion Government, and they were purchased by the province, after a board of arbitrators had placed a valuation upon them. The price paid by the province was $213,958.29.

The following buildings have been constructed by the provincial government since 1907: Court House at Saskatoon, $5,900; Court House at Moose Jaw, 1907, $57,000; Court House at Battleford, 1908, $12,900; Court House at Areola, 27,015; Court House and Land Titles Office, Humboldt, 1914, $79,900; Court House and Land Titles Office, Swift Current, 1914, $103,000; Court House at Yorkton, 1920, $129,750; Court House at Kerrobert, 1920, $161,587; Land Titles Office at Regina, 1907, $94,996; Land Titles Office at Saskatoon, 1909, $26,700; Land Titles Office, Moose Jaw, 1910, $35,920; Land Titles Office, Battleford, 1907. $31,123; Land Titles Office at Arcola, 1911, $29,200; Land Titles Office at Moosomin, 1912, $31,692; Parliament Buildings at Regina, 1909-10, $1,700,000; Provincial Office Buildings, Cornwall St., Regina, 1919-20, $149,962; Mental Hospital, Battleford, 1913, $1,716,455; Normal School, Regina, 1913, $231,645; Provincial Jail at Regina, 1914, $273,818.

The buildings now under construction by the provincial government are as follows: Mental Hospital at Weyburn, $1,492,396; Home for Infirm at Wolseley, 1920, $148,678; Normal School, Saskatoon, 1920, $462,999; New Power House for Parliament Buildings, 1920, $251,757.

This list does not include the buildings at the University of Saskatchewan, constructed or under construction, or the new jail at Prince Albert, some of the preliminary work on which has already been done, and which will be pushed to completion.

The government hopes to be able to start this year on the construction of the Saskatchewan War Memorial Building, which will stand close by the Parliament Buildings in Regina.

Aside from the buildings constructed by the government, detachment quarters for the Provincial Police have been purchased by it at the following points: Melfort, Canora, Young, Turtleford, Elrose, Holdfast, Craik, Prince Albert, Ogema, Elbow, Weyburn and North Battleford.

ABBNOTT

A farming district in Saskatoon Land Reg. Dist. and Kerrobert Jud. Dist., 5 miles from Luseland, which is the business centre.

ABBOTT

A flag station in Sec. 21, T. 7, R. 18, W2, in Assiniboia Land Reg. Dist. and Weyburn Jud. Dist and Mun. No. 68, on C. P. R., 78 miles southeast of Moose Jaw.

Aberdeen

is an incorporated village on the main line of the C. N. R., 28 miles north-east of Saskatoon. The village has a population of about 300 and is in the centre of the Aberdeen Rural Municipality, which comprises 8 townships. The soil of the district is for the most part open prairie wheat land of the very best quality, a rich, dark clay loam overlying a clay subsoil. The land is fairly level and well-drained, and the district is so situated that it generally gets a fair share of rainfall. In favorable seasons the yield of wheat, which is the principal grain grown, runs from 25 to 40 bushels per acre. Oats yield from 40 to 60.

There are many wealthy farmers in the district, many having large barns, commodious houses, and each his automobile.

An excellent telephone system serves both village and rural community, there being over 200 subscribers on the village and rural circuits.

Most classes of business are represented in the village, which has a privately-owned electric lighting system. There are five elevators, two churches, Presbyterian and Mennonite, a school with three departments, the senior department giving instruction as far as the third year of the High School Course.

There is an up-to-date hotel, a bank, and a printing office issuing a weekly newspaper, which attests to the activities of the district.

An important feature of the town is the new park with its baseball diamond and fine half-mile track, for Aberdeen, since its earliest days has been one of the leading villages in Central Saskatchewan for sports, particularly athletics. Last year its baseball team won the pennant in the Abrohovo League.

Population 300 with 750 farmers in vicinity.

A progressive and prosperous town of 2000 population, situated 60 miles west of Saskatoon on the Canadian National Transcontinental Railway, and the C.P.R. Pheasant Hills Br., Saskatoon to Edmonton. A first class divisional point of the C.N.R., employing over 500 men. Has good water operated by town plant, cement sidewalks, and privately owned electric plant, 2 banks, 4 elevators, with a total capacity of 160,000 bushels. Stores are well equipped and manned, several having their own cooling and lighting systems. Has free Express delivery. Saskatchewan Government telephone exchange, with over 500 subscribers urban and rural. There are three churches, Anglican, Methodist and Roman Catholic, and a Salvation Army barracks.

The surrounding country is clay and sandy loam, with ideal mixed farming conditions to the north where feed and water abound, with pretty lakes and bush. Negotiations are nearly completed for the establishment of a creamery. There are two branch lines, one to Battleford and one to Calgary. Has a high school and five other schools with principal, assistant principal and 9 teachers. One of the livest and most successful agricultural societies in the West, with Fair and sports grounds inside the town. Splendid modern curling rink to be built in immediate future. Has a live Board of Trade which invites correspondence. The town has a net assessment of $925,000 00, with a bonded indebtedness of $67,000.00.

FRANK HOPKINS,
Sec. Board of Trade.

Mayor Geo. Wittick.

Blaine Lake

The village of Blaine Lake, with a population of 350, situated on the C. N. R. midway between Prince Albert and Battleford, is the centre and marketing point of a very large, rich and fertile district. Spring wheat is the main crop though many are successfully engaged in mixed farming. The land is a rich clay loam, slightly rolling prairie, dotted with poplar bluffs and well watered. Many nationalities are represented in the population of the district. The village contains 3 churches, 5 general stores, 2 hardwares, 2 blacksmiths, 2 lumber yards, a first class hotel and a four room modern public school where high school work is also taught. This is one of the largest wheat shipping points in the province and crop failures are almost unknown.

BRUNENDAHL

a former P.O. now included in Stornoway.

Bruno

is an incorporated village, with a population of about 450 people. It is situated on the Winnipeg, Humboldt, Saskatoon and North Battleford to Edmonton branch of the Canadian National Railway; 65 miles east of Saskatoon; in Vonda Provincial Elec. Division. It is in the centre of the best wheat growing district in Northern Saskatchewan. The district is equally well adapted for mixed farming, which is proven by fine herds of cattle and an up-to-date farmers' co-operative creamery. The land is of a rolling nature, and has produced as high as 50 bushels of wheat to the acre. A trip through the district would impress anyone with the prosperity of the farmers. Large barns and commodious houses, many of them electric lighted, are to be met with, while practically every farmer has his automobile. The town in itself is a leader in business, as more freight and express is handled by the staff of 3 at the C.N.R. depot than in any town for its size, or even larger, along the line. There are 2 good churches, one public school and a separate school as well as a Sisters convent. The town and district are well served by the local branch of the Union Bank of Canada; has one modern hotel, electric lighted and steam heated; and one good restaurant. The community is well served by the local weekly, "The Bruno Leader." There is a Govt. telephone exchange in connection with which there are some 300 rural phones. In addition to this there is the Bruno Clay Works Ltd., a local manufacturing concern which holds the exclusive right for the manufacture and sale of the famous Dennison Interlocking Tile for the Provinces of Man., Sask. and Alta. In short, it is one of the most progressive and thriving villages and districts and one worthy of every consideration. A live Board of Trade is at your service. Write to the secretary, F. Wm. Schramm.

Craik

The trading centre of the Craik district is a prosperous town, on the second main line of the Canadian National Railway, 73 miles northwest of Regina, which is the capital city of Saskatchewan. The city of Saskatoon is 87 miles further north on the same line. A glance at a railroad map will show that the Edmonton-Regina direct line of the C. N. Ry., most of which is now built, will meet this Regina-Saskatoon line at Craik, and a further glance will convince that the linking up of Craik by rail with the city of Moose Jaw, 50 miles to the south, is only a matter of time. From the standpoint of accessibility therefore, the town of Craik is in an enviable position. A can of cream will go to Regina in 2½ hours.

Craik has already been made a freight terminal by the Canadian National Railways. They have under construction here a modern coal dock. The question of water supply they have settled permanently by constructing a dam across the Arm River, on which the town of Craik is situated.

Craik's business institutions are modern and up-to-date; the stores are city stores transplanted to the country. The professions are well represented.

A member of the provincial police force of Saskatchewan is stationed at Craik. The local fire department is well organized.

The people of Craik are a sociable class. All through the year, and particularly during the winter months, there is a continual round of concerts, parties and balls. Everybody skates, everybody curls. All travelling shows stop here. An orchestra and a band are being organized this year.

Summer sports are even more varied. The big sheet of water held by the C. N. R. dam on the Arm River lends itself to boating, swimming, and in the early spring to fishing. The streets of Craik on a Saturday night in summer are a gay sight.

There are two first-class hotels in Craik, and three restaurants. The Craik Weekly News records the doings of the citizens from week to week.

Craik school is the pride of the town. Farmers' children who have completed public school work in the rural schools can come to Craik and take their high school training. If they are ambitious to go still higher, the colleges of Regina and Saskatoon are at their doors.

Anglican, Methodist and Presbyterian churches are established here, and Lutheran and Roman Catholic services are also held in the district The better known fraternal and benevolent societies have organized in Craik. Population 600. Improved land $35 to $65. Unimproved land $20 to $35.

the midway town between Regina and Saskatoon, was born in the year 1903. The railway between Regina and Saskatoon was opened in the year 1883 and a name "Finsbury" was marked a "possible town" at that time. Our town grew one mile north of Finsbury, and the name comes from the name of the head of the pathfinders, A. D. Davidson, and from that time this was called Davidson. When I arrived here there were about 50 people located on this land. In the year 1904 people began to come to this district and the town grew rapidly so that in 1905 we had about 500 persons residing in the new town. This is the year we started the Board of Trade, May 8, 1905, and we progressed as we grew. By this time we had practically all the necessary stores and businesses. In this year we had a small school with one teacher, but the following year we began to build a bigger school with four rooms, and in 1906 we had two teachers. Being a young people's country we soon had to get more teachers, and in 1907-8 we had four teachers. Now we have a still bigger school of eight rooms, with eight teachers, and right now we are crowded with pupils. The Wells Land & Cattle Co. came in 1904 and started farming in a large way. Today they are carrying on farming three to four sections adjacent to the town. S. G. Detchon, of Chicago, was also a larger farmer, farming thirteen sections in the neighborhood. He has decided to rent out his land this year and from now on, as he resides in New York, to which place he moved recently. In the year 1906 this village was turned into a town and we have many municipal works such as Town Hall, Central Park of nearly 2 acres laid out and planted with flowers and trees, electric light plant, power house, curling and skating rink, 20-acre sports ground, and last year we had the sidewalks changed to cement sidewalks.

We have four churches—Presbyterian, Roman Catholic, Methodist and Anglican—each having their pastors. The country surrounding the town strikes a stranger as being very successful, as we have beautiful homes with every convenience and the land is second to none, good clay loam; lands from $35 to $80. The people are all English speaking, from British Isles, Eastern Canada and the United States. Town has 820 people. The community feeling is very strongly marked and we are always glad to welcome newcomers.

DUCK LAKE

The Town of Duck Lake, one of the oldest in Saskatchewan, is situated on the Canadian Northern Railway midway between the cities of Saskatoon and Prince Albert, and gets its name from the beautiful lake which lies in close to the town, and which provides sport and profit to the citizens at their pleasure.

Duck Lake has long been famous for its beauty and beautiful surroundings, nestled among poplar groves, and on the margin of "The Great Park Country," dotted over with small lakes, it appeals to those of aesthetic tastes as an ideal town to live in.

It has four schools and 3 churches (Anglican, Presbyterian and Catholic). The schools are the public, separate, convent and industrial school.

All the businesses, trades and professions found in a first class town are here. Close at hand are two capacious elevators which last year shipped out 200,000 bushels of grain. The Central Saskatchewan Flour Mills Ltd has a strictly up-to-date mill with a capacity of 200 barrels of flour per day.

The district is well settled and produces grain, garden produce, and live stock, while there is considerable trading in cordwood, fur and hides. Land values average $15 to $20 raw and $30 to $40 per acre improved. Population, town 150, with 2500 farmers in the district.

Mayor M. Courchene.
Councillors—C. Kleine, E. A. Crizaud, J. M. Pozer, D. MacNair, A. C. Day and A. Fisher.

Estevan

a town in S22 T2 R8 W2, in Assiniboia Dom. Elec. Dist., Cannington Land Reg. Dist., Estevan Jud. Dist., Mun. No. 5 on the C. P. and C. N. Rys., 145 miles southeast of Moose Jaw. Has Govt. Teles, C. P. and C. N telegraphs, Dom. and Can. Nat. express offices. It is on the Souris river near the international boundary. The district surrounding her is excellent for mixed farming. A crop failure is practically unknown. Besides the town having such a good surrounding country, it is also noted for its mineral clay, coal, gas, and oil deposits. At present there is a brick works situated here and a large coal company within a short distance of the town, also a soap factory. It is estimated there are nine billion tons of lignite coal in the district, which is a wonderful asset itself. The residents in the vicinity enjoy very cheap coal. The town has eight churches, hospital, three public schools and a collegiate institute, three banks, a $10,000 post office, a $20,000 town hall, municipally owned electric light plant, sewerage and waterworks, five elevators and the usual number of retail stores for a town this size. Land values average $35 improved and $15 unimproved. Population 3000 with about 9,000 in vicinity.

Mayor—E. W. Garner.
Councillors — J. A. Lackey, B. F. Grundun, D. L. Irvine, Dr. E. T. French, A. M. Taisey, W. H. Nesbitt.

FESTUBERT

A farming district 19 miles from Wadena, which is on the C.N.R., the business centre.

FIELDING

Situated on the main line of the Canadian National Railway, 60 miles west of Saskatoon and 35 miles east of North Battleford, is in a thriving district, settled with English speaking people with a few of German descent. The soil which is of a gentle rolling nature consists of a black loam with clay subsoil, with few sloughs or bluffs, the North Saskatchewan River crossing the district about six miles south of the Village. This district is noted for its mixed farming and has never had a crop failure and many of the farmers have recently completed good up to date buildings of the permanent type.

The village comprises all lines of commercial business and has 3 elevators with acapacity of 120,000 bushels, three churches (Union, Anglican and Catholic) rural telephone system and good public school of two rooms which will have to be enlarged very soon. Population 125.

is situated on the main line of the C.P. Ry. from Winnipeg to Edmonton, 340 miles west of Winnipeg, 70 miles east of Saskatoon, and 92 miles north of Regina. This is the very heart of the mixed farming district of Saskatchewan—a fact borne out by cereal and live stock maps issued by the Dept. of Agriculture. The site of the town is well-nigh ideal, being high and easy of drainage. Ample water can be had at a depth of from 12 to 15 feet. The district is well wooded in parts and fuel is therefore easily obtainable. A splendid lake is situated within a few miles of the town. This lake furnishes unrivalled facilities for aquatic sports, boating, bath-a town and station on the Regina-Melville branch of the G. T. P. Ry., 51 miles northeast of Regina. Situated on S7 T21 R13 W2, in the Prov. Elec. Div. of South Qu'Appelle. The valley of the Qu'Appelle is of ideal beauty throughout its length. Rills and brooks bearing the drainage of the upland prairies, have fretted the banks of the valley into gentle dales and deep ravines, which fringed with flower and shrub and aspen, hurry down to the verdant lowlands where they mingle with the willow bordered river. The ridges of the hills on each side, though covered with short grass, are bald of brush or bush, and only in the intervening hollows and coulees, sheltered from the scorching sun and succeeding frosts of spring is tree or shrub to be seen. Lovely as is the shining Qu'Appelle river in the valley, while alone in its beauty it is when the stream expands into its rosary of lakes and links them together that the full glory of the scenery is revealed. Each lake, a limpid gem of azure, fills the valley from bank to bank which, embowered in verdure, sweep in stately curves till they are finally concealed in the distance.

REGINA - - SASKATCHEWAN

Upon the prairies between the second and third lakes stood Fort Qu'Appelle, in the middle of the valley, and within a hundred feet of the bank of the river. Between this and the Rocky Mountains to the west there was no fixed habitation of man, while to the east except for the cabins of four half-breeds there were no buildings nearer than Fort Ellice on the Manitoban boundary.

The Fort was an enclosure of one hundred and fifty feet square, the stockades were framed of squared poplar logs serving as foundations and platings, supported by posts every fifteen feet. The walls consisted of thick slabs and planks with the sawn surface outside. The height of the stockade was twelve feet and the buildings faced the north.

To the right of the front gate stood the flagstaff on which the British red ensign, with white letters H. B. C. on its fly, was hoisted on Sundays and holidays, also in honour of the arrival and departure of distinguished guests.

In the middle of the square was the fur-packing press with its long beam lever and huge slotted post into which it was inserted.

The earliest records we have preserved of Fort Qu'Appelle are to be found in the diary of Daniel W. Harmon, a clerk to the Northwest Company. His reference to the Fort is in the following terms:

"Sunday, March 11th, 1804.—Ca-ta-buy-se-pu, or the Calling River. This stream is so named by the superstitious natives, who imagine that a spirit is constantly going up and down it, and they say that they often hear its voice distinctly, which resembles the cry of a human being.

"The Treaty of Qu'Appelle is perhaps the most noteworthy of all Indian Treaties. The tribes concerned were the Crees and the Salteaux who, by this agreement, surrendered seventy-five thousand square miles of fertile territory, chiefly in southeastern Saskatchewan. The account of the proceedings as given in Norman Black's History, is quite interesting and should be read as a description of Indian procedure. The surrender took place in September 1874 in the town of Qu'Appelle, and the site of the meeting is now commemorated by an obelisk which was erected in 1915.

The valley is about 300 ft. deep. Soil on prairie, clay; in valley, sandy loam; watered by Qu'Appelle River. Wells 18 ft. deep in the valley; 30 ft. on the prairie. A mixed farming district. The C. P. R. runs 18 miles south and 7 miles to north of valley, and the G. T. P. Ry. through the valley. Price per acre of raw lands, $20; improved farms, $35 to $80. Practically no homestead lands. There is a chain of lakes in the valley. Good boating, fishing and bathing.

The most important feature of this place is the Sanatorium for the treatment of tubercular troubles. It is situated about 1½ miles in a northwesterly direction from town and is reached by bus, which makes three regular daily trips. It was opened in October, 1917, and over 1700 patients have been treated to date. The daily average is 260 patients. Last year in addition to the tubercular cases, there were 385 cases of other diseases which came here for diagnosis and consultation which is free of charge. The town has mail order post-office, express and local and long distance telephone. Population 300.

Govan

The town of Govan is midway between Regina and Saskatoon on the C.P. Ry., right in the heart of the famous Last Mountain Valley. Population 750. Excellent town hall, electric light, fine brick school, 4 churches, municipal rink, good hotel, 3 garages, 5 general stores, 2 hardware stores, jeweler, druggist, picture theatre, 2 banks, 2 livery barns, 2 doctors, etc. Since the opening of the district in 1904 there has never been a crop failure. Last year, 1920, was good, much above the provincial average. Farms fifteen miles from town have sold this season for $50 an acre. Farms close in have sold for $75, $80 and $85 and acre. Wheat growing and stock raising are the principal industries.

Gull Lake

is a town of 850 population situated 140 miles west of Moose Jaw and 110 miles east of Medicine Hat on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The first merchants located here in 1906 to cater to the business offering from incoming settlers from Ontario and the Dakotas principally. The town owes its prsperity to the fertility of the district it serves. Wheat is the principal farm product and eight large grain elevators in town are worked to capacity in good years.

1915 was here, as in all southwestern Saskatchewan, our banner year. The crop threshed from 23 to 68 bushels of wheat to the acre. Recent dry years, while a considerable hardship have resulted in better farming methods being thought out and adopted with good results already obtained and better prospects for the future.

The spiritual wants of the community are served by five churches—Anglican, Presbyterian, Methodist, Roman Catholic and Lutheran. All enjoy good support and helping in the social life of the town and district.

A fine brick school house providing accommodation for nearly thre hundred children is a tribute to the attention paid to the value of education. A High School course is provided and nearly forty pupils are receiving this higher instruction.

Fire losses have been kept down by the vigilant work of an exceptionally good Volunteer Fire Brigade with the aid of an equipment which is considerably better than usually found in towns of this size.

During nearly fifteen years of the town's existence there has been but one business failure.

An annual farmers' Fair is held usually in July, and is well attended and showing considerable yearly growth.

The C. P. R. has expended upwards of Two Hundred Thousand Dollars on their water works at this point, and have a splendid supply which is pumped in from the Swift Current River, 12 miles south to a dam, from which it runs by gravity to the town.

is an incorporated town with a population of about 1,200 people, situated on the main line of the C.P. Ry., about 80 miles west of Moose Jaw, and 30 miles east of Swift Current, in S18 T17 R9 W3, in Swift Current Dom. Elec., Land Reg. and Jud. Dists., and Morse Prov. Elec. Dist. The territory from which the town draws its trade comprises an area extending 45 miles north, 30 miles south, 7 miles east and 10 miles west of the town. The soil and climatic conditions are such that wheat growing has been successfully carried on, while oats, flax and barley crops yield good returns, a tendency towards mixed farming and breeding of pure bred stock is apparent. Power farming is coming into use more each year. Companies are drilling for oil and gas in the district at the present time. Unimproved farms may be purchased at from $12.00 to $35.00 an acre, improved farms at from $20.00 to $45.00 an acre. The district is well provided with up-to-date rural schools, telephone systems and good roads leading into town. The town is electrically lighted, has a $50,000 brick schhool, comprisisng all grades and high school, administered by a staff of eight teachers. The best of marketing, trading and banking facilities available. Big agricultural and live stock exhibition held here each summer. Winter sports, curling, hockey and skating; summer, base-ball, tennis and golf. Good opportunities for good honest industry.

Humboldt

Humboldt is one of the most, if not the most important centre on the Canadian National Railway between Winnipeg and Edmonton, being 425 miles west of Winnipeg and equal distance east of Edmonton. Its railway location is a strategic one, and a glance at its situation readily shows its advantages as a business centre. Commanding as it does exclusive control over a wide area and being a terminal and railway central division its value is enhanced for the manufacturer, wholesaler, tradesman and investor. The railway yards contain over ten miles of tracks, has a roundhouse of 24 stalls, and a payroll of over $20,000.00 per month.

As a residential town Humboldt is unsurpassed. The streets and avenues with numerous handsome and large buildings and business blocks and beautiful homes speak of prosperity, and compare favorably with any community of its age in Western Canada. Humboldt can be described as a live, bustling and up-to-date town—in fact Saskatchewan's prospective city — bubbling over with optimism and offering advantages second to none. It has a complete electrical plant, sewage and waterworks system. Great extensions have been made in the construction of cement sidewalks on all the main streets and residential districts and there is a municipally owned skating and curling rink situated upon a quarter section of land which has been set apart for park, agricultural and exhibition grounds and high school purrposes.

Educational facilities are of the best. There is a new large public school, constructed at a cost of $65,000.00, a separate school and a largely attended and successful high school. The various religious denominations are catered for by four churches. The Government have constructed many fine and large buildings in the town comprised as follows: Court House and Land Titles Office, costing $150,00; Post Office, $45,00; Government Telephone Exchange, Customs Office. The Government's selection in these matters is not lightly made, and indicates discernment in strategy of location and future development. Humboldt Judicial District extends 142 miles east and west, and 54 miles north and south. There are many other fine buildings of note, including City Hall, Fire Hall, Hospital, Exhibition Hall, three hotels, four banks, theatre, etc. Humboldt also has one of the largest creameries in Saskatchewan, the Humboldt Creameries Ltd.

Agriculture is now, and always will be, an important item in the life of a community in Western Canada, and any community which is the natural centre of well settled agricultural territory will have specific advantages from which others are excluded. Within a radius of fifty miles of Humboldt there lies the recognized Humboldt District which is acknowledged to comprise the best mixed farming land in Western Canada. Mixed farming means skilled farmers who reap rich harvests, and who at the same time are protected by stock-raising from the element of gamble in all-grain growing districts. Agricultural opportunities are still good and reasonably improved farms can be obtained around $25.00 to $50.00 per acre. The district is principally settled by English, American and German-American farmers who came here with sufficient money not only to purchase their land, but to purchase modern farming machinery, to erect modern farming buildings and have sufficient left to "carry on" with. The result of this has been that the country has developed with exceptional rapidity, and on every hand an air of progress and prosperity permeates the atmosphere. It may be said without fear of contradiction that there is no better district in Western Canada, and nowhere have the farmers prospered better. Humboldt has become known as "The Sure Crop District" and one of the largest cattle shipping districts on the Canadian National Railway main line.

Communications on any subjects will be welcomed and promptly dealt with if addressed to

Indian Head

The town of Indian Head is situated on the main line of the C.P.R., 319 miles west of Winnipeg. It is the centre of the oldest and most famous farming district in Western Canada. It has a population of 1,700, with 5 churches, public and high school, 7 grain elevators and good stores. It possesses municipal electric light, waterworks and sewer systems and well-graded streets, with seven miles of granolithic sidewalks.

Its inhabitants take pride in the beauty of the town and advertise it as "Indian Head the Beautiful."

Indian Head was taken by the Government town-planning commission as the model town of Saskatchewan. It has three fine parks, municipally owned, and the Dominion Experimental Farm, and Dominion Forestry Nursery Station are located at this point.

It is the nearest town to the famous Saskatchewan summer resort, Lake Katepwe.

O. J. GODFREY,
Town Clerk.

(Now called Peebles).

Kamsack

a city in S34 T29 R32 W1, in Mackenzie Dom. Elec. Dist., Pelly Prov. Elec. Dist., Yorkton Land Reg. and Jud. Dists., and Mun. No. 271.

It is situated near the eastern boundary of Saskatchewan on the north bank of the Assiniboine River, in the midst of a very rich and fertile agricultural area. The productiveness of the district is attested by the fact that it takes seven grain elevators to handle the grain output, in addition to the vast quantities of grain shipped direct.

The elevators have a capacity of 325,000 bushels, and the district has never experienced a crop failure.

It is the distributing centre for this great oat farming district, also shipping large quantities of hogs and cattle.

The urban population is 2,250, and the rural population is 5,000.

During the years 1914 and 1915 electric light and waterworks systems were installed, also cement sidewalks laid on all principal streets.

Less than twenty years ago our town was occupied by Indians.

In 1903 the survey for the Canadian Northern Transcontinental Rly. was carried out, and the following year steel was laid and trains began to operate. Kamsack was made a divisional point, and from that time on the growth of the town was rapid.

Today we have, besides the public utilities referred to, the High School and the Public School, where the average attendance is approximately 450; three churches, and Indian Mission Schools on the Indian Reserve, a few miles north of the town.

There are, in the neighborhood, mineral deposits, brick and clay and good hunting grounds. The soil is of black loam about eighteen inches deep with a sandy sub-soil, and the average price per acre is $50.00 for improved and $25.00 for unimproved.

Island Lake lies a few miles north east of Kamsack nd makes an ideal summer resort to the town people. There are approximately fifty cottages on the beach, and many of the business men take their families to the resort for the summer.

The town is situated on the Canadian Northern Railway, 208 miles southeast of Saskatoon, 140 miles northeast of Regina, and 278 miles northwest of Winnipeg. It is connected with long distance telephone, G. N. W. telegraphs, has a Canadian Northern Railway Express office, Canadian Bank of Commerce and Bank of Montreal branches.

The chief industries are grain and stock raising.

Mayor—W. G. Blewitt.

KELLIHER

In S34 T26 R13 W2, in East Mountain Dom. Elec. Dist., Touchwood Prov. Elec. Dist., Assiniboia Land Reg. Dist., Melville Jud. Dist., and Mun. No. 247, district of Touchwood, on the main line of the C.P.R., 326 miles west of Winnipeg, 116 miles east of Saskatoon. Population 400. Kelliher is a thriving village, just emerging into the larger estate of townhood, situated in the centre of a large and prosperous district, most of which is park land, which especially lends itself to the advantages sought by its owners. Mixed farming and the pure bred cattle industry are well established with strong intelligent men in the work. Over half a million bushels of grain are shipped from this point each year, it also being a large shipping point for livestock. The village has a flour mill, creamery, four-room brick school, a beautiful lake adjoining the village, five stores, electric lights, telephones and telegraph, numerous other business places, a newspaper and representatives of the medical, dental and law professions, a live citizenship and an active and progressive Board of Trade. Land values average $15 to $25 for unimproved and $25 to $50 for improved.

KELLIHER is one of the finest mixed farming districts in the three prairie provinces. There is always abundance of hay, water and shelter for stock. The grain crops of this district are also of the best. Kelliher is on the main line of the G.T.P., a few hours' ride from Winnipeg. We have a market right at home for our cream in the Government Creamery operating here. Also three elevators and a flour mill to take care of our grain.

Prices range from $13 to $25 per acre, on easy terms. We can show you the best in the district.

P. telegraph and Dominion express. This district is a fine mixed farming community. Wheat is the principal grain, with flax a close second. Good dairy farming is also carried on. Kerrobert has the second largest creamery in the Province. The climate here is very equable, and the farmers generally have a good crop. The town owns its own water system and the water is of the very best. Here is situated the court for the Kerrobert Prov. Judicial District, which was erected at an expenditure of $200,000. There is also a Union Municipal Hospital, which is one of the best equipped and up-to-date hospitals in the Province. The town boasts a live Board of Trade and Agriculture Society. There is an ideal opening here for a wholesale produce concern, as Kerrobert is the centre of a large mixed farming district. The land values here are unimproved $20 to $35, and improved $35 to $50. Population 700.

KINISTINO

pronounced with the accent on second syllable "is as in kiss." 45 miles east of Prince Albert on the Prince Albert to Winnipeg branch of C. N. R.

Incorporated 1904, June 15th, situated in the very heart of the famous Carrot River Valley. A population of nearly 500 and one of the most progressive towns in Northern Saskatchewan. One of its attracting features is the number of beautiful homes both in design and surrounding.

In the centre of a district suitable both for grain raising and stock farming, the soil being of the rich dark loam type, capable of producing as high as 65 bushels per acre in wheat, while oats and barley are in proportion.

The district around Kinistino village and to which business places cater, contains 200 square miles, plenty of water and first class haylands.

The elevator capacity is 120,000 bushels, four elevators. The shipment of wheat during the past season was 196 cars; of stock 87 cars; the freight revenue for April 1921 was $7,500.00, outside of grain and stock shipments.

The town is well represented in all commercial lines of business, having two banks (Nova Scotia and Merchants Bank of Canada), a first-class hotel, a $30,000 four-room school with continuation grade, three churches (Presbyterian, Methodist and Anglican). The Kinistino Representative is a live weekly newspaper which covers the town and district. A public library of a comprehensive and extensive nature, and one of the largest rural telephone exchanges in the province.

Kinistino is not behind the times in her social enjoyments. There is a strong A. F. & A. M. lodge, meeting on Monday of each month on or before the full moon. They have a large up-to-date covered skating and curling rink, baseball and football teams, hockey teams, and tennis courts, a park and a sports' grounds, boy scouts, camp-fire girls, and the usual I.O.D.E. and Ladies' Aids; has live Board of Trade with R. B. Atkinson as secretary, and G. W. Smallwood as president. Kinistino knows no crop failures and it has never experienced a blizzard, has an abundant supply of wood for fuel and fencing, and much of it large enough to be sawn for lumber. The river and surrounding lakes contain jack fish, and Waterhen Lake is the breeding place of thousands of water fowl. No town in Saskatchewan has a more brilliant future. There are good motor roads, is very easy of access, and the people are most hospitable.

LAFLECHE

is located on the Weyburn-Lethbridge branch of the C. P. R., about 30 miles west of Assiniboia and lies 48 miles north of the International Boundary, in the center of one of the best farming districts in southwestern Saskatchewan.

The town is very well laid out, having exceptionally wide streets and boasts some three miles of sidewalk with still more under construction by the village officials.

With a population of 450, the largest of any village on this line, and a territory 10 miles wide by 60 miles long from which it draws trade, LaFleche is a very busy and prosperous point.

The people of the district point with pride to the string of six elevators, two large general stores, one men's furnishing store, one hardware store, one harness shop, two butcher shops, three implement agencies and three lumber yards all doing a good business.

A flour mill with a capacity of 50 barrels daily, operating for a part of the year on a 24-hour basis, is one of the greatest assets of this town, and makes a flour second to none in the province.

Two oil companies maintain agencies at this point and two garages equipped with the very latest machinery for all classes of work and in charge of competent mechanics round out a very complete line of businesses to care for the needs of the people.

Two chartered banks have branches here and although faced with a series of poor crops, have managed to finance the merchant as well as the farmer in a very satisfactory manner.

Both public and separate schools are maintained in charge of a very able teacher. In addition to the above this town supports two newspapers, two physicians, one dentist, an up-to-date pharmacy and a hotel that is well and favorably known to all travelers throughout southern Saskatchewan.

For all of the fact that the above list looks complete there is still room for new people with new business, as well as opportunities to purchase businesses now going or well equipped farms in the surrounding district.

LANGHAM

situated 28 miles north west of Saskatoon on the C. N. R. main line, running between Winnipeg and Edmonton, in S16 T39 R7 W3, in Saskatoon Dom. Elec. Land Reg. and Jud. Dists., Saskatoon County Prov. Elec. Dist., and Mun. No. 375. Has four elevators, capacity 100,000 bus. School attendance 150. Has two banks, doctor, lawyer and its own weekly newspaper. Langham is situated in the centre of an excellent farming district. The soil in the main consists of a chocolate loam, with a clay sub-soil, admirably adapted to grain growing, and has a very fine record for crops covering the past 18 years. The adjacent territory is mostly flat and slightly rolling prairie, with some brush which affords shelter for livestock. Though essentially a grain growing district, it is practicable to diversify farming operations, and the livestock industry is engaged in with profit and success. The average price per acre of improved land is $50, and unimproved $35. Population, town 500, rural 1,500. Write,

R. GEDDES,
Sec. Board of Trade.

Mayor—D. A. Scott.

Leader

originally named Prussia, came into existence about seven years ago, is situated on the Swift Current, Empress and Bassano branch of the C. P. R.; ninety-four miles northwest from Swift Current, in the midst of a fertile district, one of the largest wheat shipping points in Saskatchewan, and the leading town between Swift Current and the Alberta line. It has a fine public school with high school department, and a staff of six teachers, average attendance two hundred and fifty. It is a good business centre with a large and diversified number of stores, three banks, three implement warehouses, three garages, an up-to-date theatre, two doctors, a dentist two lawyers, various insurance agents, three lumber yards and six large elevators, and an enterprising weekly, known as the Leader Enterprise, which prints in English and German.

The present Town Council is progressive and economic, the result of their efforts being five and three-quarter miles of streets, with five miles of sidewalks all in good condition. The electric light plant is run by private enterprise, and a number of the streets are well lighted.

The population of one thousand is supplied with water from the town well and also by private enterprize, and arrangements are being made to tap the C.P.R. pipe line from the Saskatchewan River six miles north of the town, to their depot, which when completed will give the inhabitants a plentiful and inexhaustible supply of water for all purposes.

There is an excellent fire equipment consisting of a Watrous four cylinder engine, with hose and pump capable of delivering two hundred and fifty gallons per minutes, together with chemical engines, hose reels and ladders, installed a little over a year ago at a cost of $10,000.

The finances of the town are in good standing, its debenture debt is being rapidly reduced, and the rate of taxation and total indebtedness compares favorably with town of similar size and utilities in Saskatchewan.

LEASK

This thriving little village is situated on the Prince Albert-Battleford line about fifty miles from Pr. Albert and lies in the heart of a fine mixed farming country that has never known a real crop failure. The town has 3 grain elevators and the usual complement of stores and buildings. Incidentally it has the finest garage on the Prince Albert-Battleford line. The surrounding country has a fine black loam soil and is splendidly timbered. There are rich hay flats on which numerous cattle pasture. There are more cattle shipped from this point than from any other on this railway. The main roads of the Municipality leading into Leask are among the finest in the north of this province, and are a credit to the officials who have been building them. The Anglican, Presbyterian and R. C. churches are in the village, and a two roomed school is filled with children. The village has a first class hotel in The Windsor that is splendidly handled. The population of the village is over two hundred and increasing rapidly.

Lloydminster

a P.O. and town on the Canadian National Ry., Edmonton-Winnipeg lines, 40 miles east of Vermilion, 169 miles east of Edmonton and 181 miles west of Saskatoon. Has C.N.R. agent, G. N. W. telegraph and Alta. Govt. Telephone offices.s The town is divided by the Meridian Road between the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. The post office and major portion of the business firms are on the Saskatchewan side of the Meridian Line Road, while the station, telephone exchange and Alberta Hall are on the Alberta side. The town has several brick buildings and presents quite a prosperous business appearance. The principal part of its 1,500 population are English-speaking people. The town has a creamery, the output of which is some two hundred and seventy thousand pounds annually. Five elevators (capacity 125,000 bushels), a flour mill, 125 barrels. The Canadian Bank of Commerce and Royal Bank of Canada both have their own buildings. A free municipal hospital, collegiate, high and public schools, churches of all denominations are represented. A continuous telephone and electric light service is in operation, and in fact Lloydminster is well represented in all lines of business that a prosperous town requires for the convenience of its residents. The town and district is well taken care of from a news point of view by the Lloydminster Times.

FARMING

The district is one of the finest mixed farming districts in Western Canada. The country is gently undulating, varying from parkland to open sections, suitable for tractor farming, and is freely interspersed with creek springs and lakes, which in season are besieged by sporting birds which make them a veritable hunter's paradise.

The soil is black loam from 8 to 16 inches deep, on a brown clay subsoil. There is no hardpan or alkali.

There is practically no stone.

The uncultivated land is covered with a rich growth of grass, vetch and peavine.

There is abundance of moisture.

Good well water is easily secured.

The district is free from hail.

The Lloydminster farmers hold 65 Provincial and International prizes for grain.

The Lloydminster farmers won the Shield for the best wheat, oats and barley grown in the Province of Saskatchewan during 1918.

The Lloydminster farmers will ship out over 1,000,000 bushels of grain in 1920.

Seed grain is shipped from Lloydminster to all parts of America.

One-third of the cultivated land is sown to wheat. The wheat yield in 1920 averages 30 bushels. Many fields have yielded 45 bushels of wheat per acre.

Fall rye is grown very successfully here.

Barley of all varieties yields very heavy crops here.

Flax grows here, and is a very profitable crop.

Lloydminster holds the World's Prize for oats. The yield of oats in 1920 averages 70 bushels per acre. Many fields of oats shave threshed as high as 120 bushel per acre.

WORLD'S PRIZE FOR OATS

The Colorado Silver Trophy, valued at $1,000, awarded by the State of Colorado, U.S.A., was won at the Corn Show in 1911, and also in 1913 at Columbus, Ohio, U.S.A., by Messrs. J. C. Hill and Sons, Lloydminster farmers. It was won for the third and final time by Messrs. J. C. Hill & Sons from 1,300 competitors drawn from all parts of Canada and the United States in 1914, at Dallas, Texas, U.S.A. It thus became the permanent property of Messrs. J. C. Hill & Sons, of Lloydminster. This is the World's Prize for oats

THE CANADIAN PRIZE FOR OATS

The Brackman-Ker Silver Trophy presented by the Brackman-Ker Milling Company, for the best milling oats grown in Canada, was won three successive times by Mr. C. H. Barrett, a Lloydminster farmer, at the Alberta Provincial Seed Grain Fair at Calgary, and this Trophy now remains permanently in Lloydminster. —This is the Canadian prize for oats!

Alfalfa, timothy, brome and western rye grass grow plentifully here.

Sunflowers grown here for silage yielded upwards of 20 tons to the acre in 1920.

LIVE STOCK

Five carloads of live stock are shipped from here each week.

The district is producing splendid live stock.

Cattle, sheep and horses live outside all winter.

DAIRYING

The Lloydminster Co-operative Creamery manufactures 270,000 lbs. of butter per year.

The average price paid for butter fat during 1920 was 65c per pound.

Milk and cream are also shipped to the cities in large quantities.

LAND VALUES

Improved and unimproved land can be purchased here, either direct from the owners or through any of the local land brokers.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company and the Hudson's Bay Company have several thousands of acres of unimproved land for sale, ranging in price from $17.00 to $25.00 per acre. Well improved farms can be purchased at from $25.00 to $40.00 per acre.

We need more settlers for our farm lands. The district is large and offers an unequalled opportunity.

The Secretary of the Board of Trade will be pleasesd to furnish you with further information regarding this district. For further information write—is situated in the Qu'Appelle Valley in Sec. 33, T. 19, R. 21, W2, in Regina Dom. Elec. and Jud. Dists., Lumsden Prov. Elec. Dist., Assiniboia Land Reg. Dist. and Mun. No. 189, twenty miles north west of the City of Regina. In a province famed for its vast rolling prairies, it has long been known as the Beauty Spot of Saskatchewan. Nestling as it does in one of the most picturesque parts of that historical Valley, thru which the Qu'Appelle River flows in its winding course to the Red River.

Lumsden possesses great natural advantages over most of its neighboring towns, on account of its lovely location from the rich deposits of gravel and brick clay which are at present almost undeveloped.

A rich farming community surrounding the town, and the many excellent buildings seen, testify, to the fertility of a district which has nover in the last fifteen years, known a crop failure, while the rich pasture of the valley lands, has attracted many of Saskatchewan's largest stock breeders to a district where water is plentiful, and surroundings ideal for cattle and horses.

The town iself is an old one, although its incorporation dates back only to 1907. Long before that time, however, the attractions offered to settlers by the charm of the place and the natural advantages of the locality had brought together a settlement to build fine homes on the spot where the town is now situated and today those residences compare favorably with those of many Ontario towns.

There are three fine Churches in Lumsden, a beautiful Park and Race course, and an excellent skating and Curling Rink, which supply both the spiritual wants of its six hundred population, and its close proximity to Regina Beach, Saskatchewan's most popular summer resort tends to add to its favourable location.

The town operates an electric light plant, at a comparatively low cost to the consumer and a policy of economy on he part of its former and present councils has tended to keep the burden of Taxation down to its minimum.

The population of the town and Rural Community is almost entirely British, most of the early settlers having come here from Ontario, as far back as 1882 and 1883, selecting from among all the unpatented lands available at that time, this district from the point of view of natural advantages of soil and situation, and their consequent prosperity since their pioneer days bears witness to the wisdom of their judgment.

Vancouver, B.C.

Maple Creek

is situated on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Sec. 15, T. 11, R. 26, W3, 66 miles east of Medicine Hat and 87 miles west of Swift Current. It is located in the federal constituency of Maple Creek and also in the provincial constituency of Maple Creek. Population 1300.

The town has all modern conveniences in the way of a gravity waterworks system, sewerage system, electric light, telephones, banks, stores of all kinds, creamery, flour mill, hotels, newspaper, etc.

The surrounding district is settled with progressive English speaking ranchers and farmers. The country is well watered and is admirably adapted to farming, mixed farming, dairying and stock raising. There is still quite a lot of government land which can be homesteaded. The climate during the winter is a great deal milder than in most parts of western Canada.

Parties interested are invited to write the undersigned who will be pleased to give detailed information.

a freight sub-divisional point, is an exceptionally progressive village between Canora and Humboldt on the Canadian National Railway, in S15 T33 R10 W2, in Mackenzie Dom. Elec. Dist., Wadena Prov. Elec. Dist., Humboldt Land Reg. and Jud. Dists., and Mun. No. 336, and is in the centre of a district suitable for both wheat growing and mixed farming. There are about 150 inhabitants in the village, which has a first-class school, and both an Anglican and Union Church. Having a large lake within a mile of the village it makes a splendid summer resort. There is an active Board of Trade, which looks after the business and, while the Margo Sports and Agricultural Association takes care of the physical needs of the inhabitants. Land is selling from $20 to $40 per acre, and being a light brush country, the bluffs supply plenty of timber for a town on the Can. National Railway 500 miles northwest of Winnipeg, 100 miles northeast of Saskatoon. Freight terminal point of C.N.R. on Winnipeg to Prince Albert line. This town has waterworks, sewerage and electric light systems, all municipally owned. Also a Government telephone system. It has a two unit power system, giving twenty-four hours service, and has power for sale at moderate cost. There are three hotels, four banks, five elevators with capacity of 150,000 bushels, five distributing garages, two newspapers, three lumber yards and numerous stores and business firms of all kinds. A co-operative creamery and cold storage plant has been completed at a cost of $100,000, all of which amount was subscribed by the surrounding farmers. There is a $60,000 eight-room public school and three cottage schools, high school, Government building containing Post Office, Customs port of entry, Armory and Dominion Lands Office. On the south side of the town there is a town park with agricultural fair grounds, grand stand and half mile race track. A thirty bed hospital, with nurses' home in connection, has been in operation for some years. Recently a union hospital area has been created by the Provincial Government with Melfort as a centre and it is hoped that a union hospital of adequate size will shortly be built. The town is also a judicial centre.

Wholesale houses at present established are: Three oil companies, one fruit company.

ment of pork packing plant, foundry, brickyard, sawmill, flour mill, wholesalers and industries.

Accompanying map shows the location of railways now built or to be built into Melfort in the immedfuture. These comprise the present C.N.R. line running east and west, the C.N.R. line Melfort to Humboldt completed except for ballasting, C. N. R. line Melfort to the Pas, with thirty miles graded and which will form part of the future Hudson Bay Railroad, C.N.R. line (Thunderhill branch) from the southeast, C.P.R. line, Lanigan to Melfort and north. The completion of these railways will make Melfort an ideal point as a commercial distributing centre.

The Carrot River Valley, of which Melfort is the commercial centre, extends roughly 150 miles from east to west, and 70 miles from north to south. It is covered almost throughout with a deep black loam, with clay sub-soil, and there is practically no stone to be found in the entire area. This district has never known a crop failure. The average yield of crops for the past ten years has been wheat 24 bushls per acre, oats 55 bushels, and barley 35. Wheat has been known to yield 70 bushels per acre, and oats 120. The district is specially adapted to mixed farming, there being an abundance of feed and shelter for stock, and numerous small creeks. Population 2,000.

Moose Jaw

The City of Moose Jaw with a population estimated at 24,000 in addition to being the third city of the Province of Saskatchewan is also the metropolis of the southwestern portion of that province. It is situated 400 miles west of Winnipeg, 420 miles east of Calgary and 100 miles due north of the International Boundary.

Moose Jaw has two prime characteristics—it stands in the centre of a very prosperous mixed farming country and is therefore deeply interested in agricultural development, and it is one of the largest and most influential railway centres of the West.

Agriculturally, the whole surrounding district is noted for crops of quality and high yield, stock raising is also carried on profitably and this industry is growing rapidly. There is a Dominion Government Storage Elevator with a capacity of no less than 3,500,000 bushels.

The whole district is well settled and there are today very few unimproved farms. These are fetching from $10 to $60 per acre. Improved farms can be obtained at from $60 to $100 per acre. It is well to remember that these figures are based on the recent high price of wheat and as this is now falling rapidly and the cost of living falling, farm land values will also probably be found to be falling as well.

Co-operative Stockyards operated under the supervision of the Provincial Government afford farmers excellent market facilities for their stock. The fact that there is ample accommodation for no less than 5000 head at one time affords an indication of the extent of the yards and the strength of the mixed farming industry in this portion of the province.

As a railway centre Moose Jaw is a grand divisional point on the main is an incorporated town on the main line of the C. P. R., 75 miles west of Moose Jaw and 38 miles east of Swift Current, it is a flourishing town of about 900 population, electric lights, cement sidewalks on the Main St. and generally speaking ranks with the better class towns of Saskatchewan. An ample water supply is available having a large dam to the north owned by the C. P. R. and is one of their main watering points. The first impression one gets on arriving in the town is greatly impaired owing to the fact that to the south nothing can be seen but a large tract of land which is called Reed Lake, but as the water in this lake has been gradually disappearing and for the last period has been practically dry, efforts are being made to have this lake properly drained and reclaimed, to the north the land rises and the outlay of the district cannot be ascertained until a person has travelled about 1 mile then for a stretch of 24 miles to the north and the bank of the river Saskatchewan one sees large tracts of the finest arable land in the province. The same can be said of the south after crossing the Lake which is about 2 miles across, for a distance of about 20 miles one sees nothing but well tilled farming lands and in most cases first class buildings, all of which is tributary to the town, the land is of a chocolate loam with a good sub-soil and unimproved lands range from $20.00 per acre whilst improved farms are from $15.00 to $75.00 per acre. The farming community is steadily leaving the old routine of growing nothing but wheat and mixed farming and tree planting is the order of the day. Generally speaking the district in the course of a few years will have nothing but farmers with smaller holdings and the old regime of wheat raisers and land grabbers will have given place to the farmer who belives in a small farm well stocked and does not depend solely on growing grain for his livelihood. With the town being situated between the two cities and on the main line this gives it every facility for being a first class marketing centre and if a good creamery could be established it would prove a boon to the farmers and an excellent proposition to the investor.

North Battleford

The fifth city of Saskatchewan, was founded in 1905, incorporated a village in the spring of 1906, a town in the same year, and a city in 1913. It is situated three miles west of the confluence of the Battle and North Saskatchewan Rivers, and is on the north bank of the latter; is 254 miles east of Edmonton and 573 west of Winnipeg.

North Battleford is the market, railway and distributing centre of northwest Saskatchewan; from it six lines of railway radiate, namely the main line of the C.N.R. east and west, the Jackfish branch northwesterly to Spruce Lake; the north-southern branch through Battleford to Biggar; and the southwest line to Carruthers. It has a new 15-stall roundhouse.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

The city owns the electric light and power plant and the water and sewer systems. The power plant was enlarged last year and not only supplies electricity for North Battleford, but for the town of Battleford as well. A municipal central steam heating system is being installed. The system is supplied with steam from the power house, and it is the intention to extend it throughout the business section. It is believed this is the first municipal heating system on the continent, and the second system of its kind in the West.

The city is served by Government and G.N.W. telegraphs, automatic and long distance Provincial Government telephones, and a Canadian National Express office. It has two large public schools, a separate school, collegiate institute and public library; four banks, Customs and Inland Revenue office and armory, also a detachment of Prov. Police.

The industries include: Flour mill, cold storage, creamery, sash and door factory and planing mill, bakeries, biscuit factory, aerated waters and bottling works. There are three wholesale grocery and fruit houses and several houses or agencies of farm machinery and implement firms.

NORTH BATTLEFORD DISTRICT

The land, generally, is rolling and consists of rich, black loam, on clay sub-soil; it is slightly wooded, thus providing shelter for stock; is well watered by rivers, creeks, springs and small lakes, and there is an abundance of nutritious native grasses. Crops ripen ten to fourteen days earlier than at some points of higher altitude further south. It is essentially a dairying and mixed farming country. The local creamery turned out 350,000 lbs. of butter last year, which was an increase of 97 per cent over the previous year. The same rate of increase has been maintained so far in 1921. The creamery, cold storage and flour mill are a great asset to the rural community, affording, as they do, ready markets and prompt payment for the various kinds of dairy and farm produce.

Improved farms can be purchased at from $20 to $40 an acre, according to location and the value of the improvements. Raw lands, both railway and privately owned, can be purchased on attractive terms at from $14 per acre upwards.

Further information regarding the city or district will be furnished on application to

PONTEIX

A P. O. in Sec. 20, T. 9, R. 11, W3, in Swift Current Dom. Elec. and Land Reg. Dists., Morse Prov. Elec. Dist., Gravelbourg Jud. Dist. and Mun. No. 76, on C. P. R., 70 miles west of Assiniboia. Has C. P. telegraph and Dominion Express.

Ponteix, although one of the new towns on the Weyburn-Lethbridge line, really dates back to the founding of Notre Dame d'Auvergne, which was located at the hill north af the C.P.R. tracks. With the coming of the railway in 1914 the village was moved to the present site and renamed "Ponteix," after the parish in France, which was the parish of the Rev. Pere A. Royer, cure of the Parish of Notre Dame d'Auvergne.

The merchants of Notre Dame d'Auvergne before the arrival of the railway catered to an enormous territory and even after the establishment of other towns and villages along the new line with more convenient shopping facilities many customers from distant points still continue to patronize the original stores which are now located at Ponteix.

Ponteix has a population of 400, approximately all French Canadians, and it is one of the most prosperous towns of its size in Saskatchewan. There is no better governed town in the province and it has one of the lowest tax rates found anywhere—the rate being less than 20 mills.

Prince Albert

A city, situated on the south banks of the North Saskatchewan River, with a population of nearly 9,000.

Prince Albert has six banks, Cathedral (R.C.) Anglican, 6 churches, 2 creameries, Provincial Stock Yards, P. Burns Co. Packing Plant, Auto Body Factory, Box Factory, Planing Mill, Sash and Door factory, Cold Storage, 2 brick yards, mineral water works, lumber yards, two hospitals, Municipally owned, electric light plant, water and sewerage.

It is in the heart of a first class farming country, the soil being a rich mixed loam, 18 to 24 inches in depth, with a clay sub-soil. Agricultural settlement and development has been rapid during the past few years, and large numbers of people are now going into the surrounding country, which is very extensive and splendidly adapted for mixed farming. There is much good timber and there are a number of sawmills in the district.

There are the Judicial District, Dominion Lands, Customs, and R. C. M. P. offices here. In the close vicinity there is abundant brick and pottery clay deposits, 2,000 square miles of spruce and poplar extend northwards from the city. This is a very picturesque city with two natural parks, good boating and bathing. Land values average $18 raw, and $35 improved.

The 40,000 French People of Saskatchewan are waiting to see your advertising in their paper.

"LE PATRIOTE DE L'OUEST" is the real leader in its territory and field.

"LE PATRIOTE DE L'OUEST" is the only French paper published in Saskatchewan. An advertisement in its columns means to you an introduction to the Canadian home from an old friend of the family.

OUR PRINTING OFFICE is ever ready to turn out a first-class job, prompt service at the lowest prices.

a farming district in S7 T9 R21 W2, in Weyburn Dom. Elec. and Jud. Dists., Milestone Prov. Elec. Dist., Assiniboia Land Reg. Dist. and Mun. No. 69, 8 miles northwest of Amulet, on the C. P. Ry., which is the business centre.

QUILL LAKE

a busy and prosperous town situated on the C.N. Ry., 386 miles west of Winnipeg, in the famous Quill Lake District. The town has 3 churches (Anglican, Baptist and Methodist), 3 general stores and 7 others, 4 elevators, 1 bank, 2 lumber yards, telephone exchange, newspaper, 1 hotel and 1 restaurant. The Imperial Oil Co. and the Western Canada Flour Mill Co. do wholesale business here.

This district is well adapted for mixed farming. The soil is a deep rich black loam. There is a moderate rainfall and no crop has ever been dried out. There is no drifting of soil and very little damage by hail. Good water is found everywhere at moderate depth. Popular bluffs afford shelter, and wood is the common fuel in every farm home.

The first settlers arrived here in 1902, and the C.N. Ry. trains arrived here in 1905, and there has been a steady progress ever since. Now there are graded roads in all directions, and rural telephones link up

City of Regina

Saskatchewan

The largest and most important city in Saskatchewan, is situated in the south central portion of the province on the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian National Railways. Regina was incorporated as a city in 1903, and is the capital and seat of the Government of the Province of Saskatchewan. The Parliament Buildings, the erection of which was commenced in 1908, stand in their own grounds of 160 acres south of Wascana Lake, and within the city limits.

The city council is composed of a Mayor and 10 Aldermen. The Mayor is elected annually, by a vote of the entire city, and since 1914 the aldermen have been elected in a similar manner. Prior to that time they were elected from the 5 wards of the city. The ward system was abolished in August 1914.

Regina is undoubtedly the financial centre of the province, and its development in this respect has been remarkable. Fourteen of the principal chartered Canadian banks have branches in the city, the majority of them having erected substantial premises of their own. The Clearing House Association was established in 1909, since when, with the exception of the period covered by the great war, the local clearings have shown substantial increases year by year. The clearings for the year ending December 31, 1920, amounted to $231,070,268. Practically every loaning institution in Canada is represented in the city, most of them occupying their own premises.

A very large volume of business is transacted in the purchase and sale of bonds and debentures of Municipalities and School Districts of the Prairie Provinces, Regina being the headquarters of Western Canada for this type of business.

Regina is justly entitled to be termed the best served railway city in Western Canada. Twelve lines of railways radiate in all directions from the city, furnishing an unexcelled service for both passenger and freight traffic. Direct communication with Minneapolis, St. Paul and other American centres is established over the Canadian National boundary line connecting with the Great Northern Railway.

Owing to its geographic situation in the heart of the grain growing district of Western Canada, and its unequalled railway facilities, Regina is today the largest distributing point for agricultural implements in the world, and practically every Canadian and American manufacturing firm of any importance has its agency in the city. Agricultural machinery to the annual value of $20,000,000.00 has been distributed from this point in several successive years and it is estimated that the total value of all merchandise distributed from this point reaches not less than $40,000,000 per annum. There are now operating at this point not less than 140 wholesale houses, the great majority of them occupying their own premises. Outstanding among these are the T. Eaton Co. Ltd and the Robert Simpson (Western) Limited, the two largest mail order houses in the Dominion. The Imperial Oil Co with its million dollar refinery located in the North side of the city, is one of the largest local employers of labor. The city is a firm believer in municipal ownership, and owns its street railway of which it has some 30 miles constructed within the city limits, light and power plant supplying cheap light and power and water system, the water being obtained from springs distant some eight miles. With regard to the two last mentioned utilities, the city has planned the expansion of the present system so that when complete they will provide for a population many times the number of the present one supply sufficient power and provide adequate fire protection throughout the city.

During 1914 the city extended its municipal ownership still further by establishing a Municipal Stock Yard on a scale sufficiently large to accommodate all the live stock raised in the province. The yards were opened in September, 1914, and considerable business has been carried on. The ultimate aim of the city, however, is the provision of an up-to-date yard to furnish a good market for all stock raised in the country tributary to the city.

Regina is also the headquarters of the Saskatchewan Co-Operative Elevator Company, the Grain Growers' Grain Co. and the Saskatchewan Co-Operative Creameries Limited, all of which have been of remarkable benefit to the farmers, and agriculture generally.

The city's public market, under the control of the Local Council of Women, contributes in no small measure to the welfare of the residents of Regina and to the people in the districts surrounding the city, in providing an open market for the sale and purchase of all kinds of supplies at first cost.

As a residential centre, Regina offers every inducement to the homeseeker. In this respect it has been referred to as "The City of Beautiful Homes."

From the educational and social points of view, the city also offers every advantage. The city has the Regina College, St Chad's College, the Provincial Government Normal School, all carried out in Gothic treatment, and a Collegiate Institute of classic design. A magnificent college is projected by the Presbyterians, their scheme including the purchase of some three or four hundred acres of ground on which to erect college buildings at a cost of about $1,000,000, also a Hospital and other buildings in connection with same. This will make provision for the education of both sexes. The Roman Catholics have also expressed their intention of erecting a substantial college. From these points it will be seen that the city, although not fortunate enough to possess the Provincial University, may claim to be the educational centre of the province. In addition to the above there are 15 public hospitals and several business Colleges and numerous societies for the advancement of art, music, literature and science, and two daily newspapers.

As to amusements, the city has first class theatres, and moving picture theatres. The lake adjoining the Parliament Buildings offers facilities for boating, bathing and skating. Many fraternal societies and other organizations exist devoted to amateur theatricals, cards, debates, etc. The city is within easy distance of Last Mountain and Katepwa Lakes, two of the beauty spots of the province and delightful holiday resorts, offering unequalled facilities for boating, fishing and bathing.

Regina is the best paved city in Canada for its size, having some 30 miles of paved streets, 75 miles of graded streets, 42 miles of granolithic and 72 miles of plank sidewalks. The city also has 69 miles of sewer with 6,079 connections; some 7: of water mains with 515 hydrants and 3,948 house connections; four fire stations with some 35 firemen and a full equipment of the most modern fire fighting apparatus; some 257 acres of parks, a trunk sewer and sewage disposal works and an incinerator plant for the disposal of garbage.

Regina's Municipal buildings would do credit to a far larger city. The funds for their erection have been to a great extent provided by the sale of townsite lands, yet the city still possesses an asset in the unsold warehouse property which is assessed at some $2,112,030.

The Government hopes to be able to start this year on the construction of the Saskatchewan War Memorial Building which will stand close by the Parliament Buildings here.

Regina is also the headquarters of Military District No. 12, which comprises the Province of Saskatchewan. This adds much to the business and social life of the city. Population, 40,000.
